I-T DEPT EASES NORMS FOR FACELESS APPEAL SCHEME

Taxpayers can now appeal against the I-T dept's tax demand via video-conference without waiting for designated officials' nod

ORAL HEARING MADE A MATTER OF RIGHT

The income tax department has revised its faceless appeal scheme to grant oral hearing to taxpayers through video-conferencing as a matter of right while dealing with their appeals. Earlier, granting oral hearing was at the sole discretion of designated officials. The faceless appeal scheme 2021 has been introduced with effect from Tuesday, a government notification said

EARLIER SCHEME INVITED COURT CASES

- The revised, simplified scheme comes in the backdrop of challenges the previous scheme faced in courts
- Under the revised norms, all communication between assessees and Commissioner (Appeals) will be through National Faceless Appeal Centre, which will only use electronic communication

Hospitality, other sectors cite loss in biz over last 2 yrs, seek relaxation for last 2 days of the yr

No night curfew on Dec 31? CM to hold meeting today

AMIT S UPADHYE @Hubballi

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday hinted that the government may take a relook at the night curfew clamped in the wake of opposition mounting from different quarters.

The opposition came first from the hospitality sector which has been reeling under losses for the last two New Year Eves. The sector was hoping to make some gains this year-end, but the night curfew has dampened the spirit.

Bommai, who was in Hubballi to attend the BJP executive committee meeting, said he is aware of the opposition to night curfew, which was introduced to contain the recent surge in Covid cases. He added that a decision will be taken in a day. "I am watching the developments. I will see what can be done. I will be in Bengaluru on Thursday and will hold a meeting with expert committee members before taking a decision," he added.

Many sectors have been requesting the government to relax the curfew norms at least on December 30 and 31 to allow businesses to see some profit.

"It's not just the public, the BJP too is divided over the night curfew order. Cases are still low and it has been proved that Omicron is milder than the previous Covid variants. The government should be lenient at least on the New Year's Eve as most of the bookings have been done before the night curfew was clamped. Hoteliers have agreed to cancel large gatherings, but you cannot ask revellers to go home at 10 pm on New Year's Eve," rued a hotelier from Hubballi.

State sees 37.1% jump in fresh Covid cases, cluster outbreaks rise

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AMID fears of a third Covid wave, the state saw a 37.10 per cent jump in Wednesday's Covid cases at 566 as compared to Tuesday's tally of 356. This is the first time since early October that the state has recorded over 500 cases a day. With Wednesday's numbers, total Covid cases have gone up to 30,05,798 since the beginning of the pandemic.

Bengaluru contributed a major chunk of Wednesday's cases with 400 people testing positive. The state also saw six deaths, taking the toll to 38,324.

Also, five new Omicron cases were confirmed in the state, taking the tally of this new Covid variant to 43. A 22-year-old woman and a 24-year-old man travelling from the US, a 53-year-old man travelling from Dubai, a 61-year-old man coming from Ghana and a 41-year-old travelling from Mumbai were found to have Omicron, the health department reported on Wednesday.

Cluster outbreaks were reported in Kolar and Mandya. At Morarji Desai School in Kolar, 10 students tested positive and at a private nursing college in Bangarpet, four students are Covid-positive. At the school, after a student reported symptoms of fever, she was tested and the result came positive. Later, all the 252 students were tested, of which ten are positive. The school has now been declared a containment zone.

At a village in Maddur taluk of Mandya district, five primary class students at the Hallikere Government School tested positive. Initially, one student tested positive and after that all the 50 students were made to give swab samples, of which four are positive. Health officials rushed to the spot and sanitised the school premises before sealing it for a few days. Taluk health officials said there is no need to worry as the students are asymptomatic and isolated. P3

MAHA SPURT IN CASES

Maharashtra Health Minister Rajesh Tope described the rise in fresh and active Covid cases in the state as alarming. While active cases were around 6,000 till last week, Tuesday's figure was 11,492 and on Wednesday, it may cross 20,000, he said

2L+ CASES IN FRANCE

France registered a record high of 2,08,000 new Covid cases in the past 24 hours. In the US, too, average daily fresh cases have soared to the highest level on record — over 2,65,000, largely driven by the Omicron variant

Key concerns

- Momentum gained by economic recovery could be lost if Covid cases surge
- Inflation remains a big worry, as it pulls down recovery benefits
- Credit to MSMEs remain slow. RBI says so far only ₹2.28 lakh crore disbursed under ECLGS while SCBs disbursed only ₹1.98 lakh crore

Indian banks asset quality set to worsen; gross NPA may jump to 9.5% by September 2022

A sustainable recovery will depend on the revival of private investment and shoring up private consumption, which still remains below pre-pandemic levels

RBI puts question mark over economic recovery

ANURADHA SHUKLA @New Delhi

THE momentum gained by the economic recovery could be lost if Omicron cases surge and inflation remains high, the Reserve Bank of India warned on Wednesday. Flagging challenges to the economy, RBI said the new Covid variant haunts the near-term prospects and the outlook is overcast with global risks. In the worst-case scenario, banks' gross non-performing assets may jump from 6.9% in September 2021 to 9.5% by September 2022, it warned in the 24th issue of the Financial Stability Report, released on Wednesday.

"More recent high-frequency indicators of economic activity suggest some loss of momentum in the third quarter of 2021-22. The pace of the recovery remains uneven across sectors, inflation formation is being subjected to repetitive supply shocks and the outlook is overcast with global risks. Omicron haunts near-term prospects," it added.

The report underlines that inflation remains a major concern as commodity and food prices have remain elevated for a protracted period and has called for stronger supply-side measures to contain food and energy prices. Among the major risks to economic growth are high commodity prices, domestic inflation, equity price volatility, asset quality deterioration, credit growth, and cyber disruptions. In this context, on the domestic front, stronger and sustainable recovery hinges on the revival of private investment and shoring up private consumption, which still remains below their pre-pandemic levels, RBI governor Shaktikanta Das said in his foreword to the report.

On public finance, the report said that even when the government manages to stick to its fiscal deficit target, the Centre's gross borrowing is likely to remain elevated notwithstanding fiscal consolidation. "Macro stress tests for credit risk indicate that the gross non-performing asset ratio of SCBs (scheduled commercial banks) may increase from 6.9% in September 2021 to 8.1% by September 2022 under the baseline scenario and to 9.5% under a severe stress scenario," the report noted.

At the same time, the report said the strong balance sheets of banks with higher capital and liquidity buffers will help mitigate future shocks.

Nagaland SIT to quiz jawans on encounter

ENS @ Guwahati

A Special Investigation Team constituted by the Nagaland government will on Thursday question the Army personnel involved in the December 4 killing of civilians during and after a botched ambush at Oting in Mon district. The questioning will happen face to face.

Parallelly, an Army team probing the case visited places in Mon, including the site of ambush, on Wednesday. The team was led by a Major General who is heading the probe.

Konyak (tribe) civil society organisations had earlier asked the personnel to not come in uniform or with arms "for their safety as the sight of uniform and weapons might provoke the villagers". The personnel cooperated and were provided security by the state police.

In a statement, the Army's 3 Corps headquarters based in Nagaland's Dimapur said the Court of Inquiry inspected the shooting site and took along witnesses for better understanding of the situation and how events would have unfolded. Later, the team visited the Tizit police station and met a cross-section of the society.

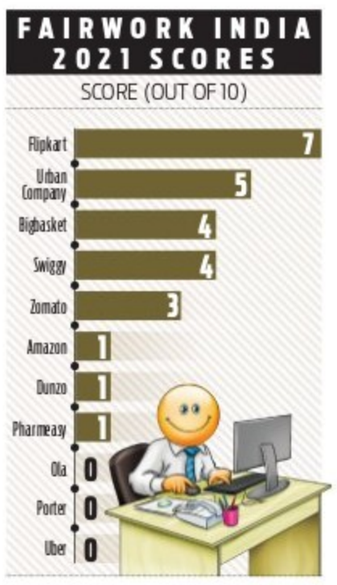
Flipkart best, Ola, Uber worst in taking care of gig workers: Report



DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

OLA and Uber, two of the biggest ride-sharing companies in India, scored zero, while Flipkart got the highest rating of seven in providing good working conditions to their gig workers, revealed a recent study.

The report was prepared by Fairwork India as part of the Centre for IT and Public Policy (CITAPP), International Institute of Information Technology Bangalore (IIIT-B) and Oxford University. The study was taken up to highlight the working condition of gig workers across the country. The report -- 'The Fairwork India Ratings 2021: Labour Standards in the Platform Economy' -- studied 11 platforms, Ola, Uber, Amazon, Zomato, Swiggy, Dunzo, BigBasket, Flipkart, PharmEasy, Porter and Urban Company. The platforms were rated on a scale of ten on fair pay, fair conditions, fair contracts, fair management and fair representation given to their employees. Ola, Uber and Porter, which is a moving services app, scored zero, while Flipkart got seven, which is the highest of all the platforms studied. But none scored across all criteria.

A point was given to each criterion if platforms satisfied basic conditions, like grievance redressal (management), minimum wage, accessible contract and others. Another point was given if the platforms went above the minimum requirements. P13

If Bill okayed, pedestrians, cyclists to have safe space on roads

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO encourage cyclists, reduce traffic congestion and improve mobility conditions in the state, the Department of Urban Land Transport (DULT) released the draft of the Active Mobility Bill on Wednesday.

Officials said this is the first time in the country that a mobility plan is being proposed especially for Bengaluru, where traffic management is a major challenge. The Bill has been sent to all government departments and stakeholders for suggestions and has also been put out on the department website https://dult.karnataka.gov.in/121/active-mobility-bill/en for the public to give their views. The last date for posting suggestions, feedback and inputs is January 31, 2022.

"It is aimed at protecting the rights of pedestrians and cyclists to safe, accessible and connected pedestrian and cycling networks in urban areas in the State, with a view to promote sustainable urban mobility and build healthy communities," the Bill stated. An exponential increase in the number of vehicles on urban streets has caused congestion and deteriorated air quality. It has also led to a rise in road fatalities with pedestrians and cyclists more at risk, the Bill stated. The legislation is aimed at giving the right of way to pedestrians and cyclists, it added.

The Bill has been drafted as the current legal framework does not have specific provisions to determine and protect the rights of pedestrians and cyclists, and give them equitable space on roads. The purpose of the Bill is to facilitate a transition to sustainable urban areas where streets and public places are designed keeping in view the needs and requirements of all road users.

Sathya Sankaran, urban mobility consultant and Bicycle Mayor of Bengaluru, termed the Bill revolutionary and said it is on the lines of the Singapore model. If the government accepts and makes the Bill official, it will help solve traffic issues to a large extent in the state, he added. CONTINUED ON P4

BBMP turns focus on commercial setups

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALURU Police Commissioner Kamal Pant on Wednesday said 'nakabandi' will be enforced on December 31 night across the city to control the movement of people with the help of Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP).

After meeting BBMP officials, he said the flyovers will be closed based on the situation. The Airport Road flyover cannot be closed as it will affect airport goers, while the Nelamanagala road flyover is already closed. Other flyovers in the city are being closed based on the location and situation.

He said that keeping in mind the present Covid situation, decisions will be taken based on the ground realities. He asked people to cooperate with the police during night curfew on New Year's Eve. The police will be more strict on December 31 night, he asserted.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said stern action is being taken to ensure Covid cases do not rise during the New Year celebration. People should avoid crowds and try to maintain normal activities, he added.

The meeting also discussed NDMA and Epidemic Diseases Act, which will be used to take action against commercial establishments violating Covid norms. Though cancelling licences of such businesses was considered, it was decided that FIRs would be filed.

Commercial establishments, were seen making markings to maintain social distancing outside shops.

The duo charged at them and Divya's friend allegedly tried to snatch the camera and abused them. Police, who were at the spot, intervened and warned Divya and her friend about breaking curfew, and asked them to leave. Meanwhile, police seized over 100 vehicles across the city for violating restrictions during night curfew.

Garbage contractors adamant on strike

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

EVEN after holding a third round of meeting with officials from the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), garbage contractors continued to maintain that they will go on strike from January 1.

SN Balasubramanya, head of the garbage contractors' association, said, "At the meeting, BBMP officials, including the Chief Commissioner, admitted that there were lapses by the city corporation on finances. They sought time to address the issue, but we pointed out that from January 1, GST comes into effect and it will be applicable even to us. We will go on strike if the issues are not resolved."

He said they held meetings with Principal Secretary Manjunath Prasad and additional chief secretary, urban development department, Rakesh Singh. But they remained inconclusive.

"Over the last few months, we are facing problems because of the service tax issue. Now we do not want to face any more problems. If the BBMP has understood the problem, there should be no difficulty for them to fix it. As they are dragging their feet, we have decided to go ahead with the strike. The BBMP has two days to take a decision," he said.

The contractors association submitted a memorandum to BBMP on December 24, after which it was decided to hold a meeting on December 28. Since it was inconclusive, another meeting was held on December 29.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said all measures are being taken for the welfare of the contractors.

Give a missed call, pledge to donate eyes

PLEDGING eyes or donation offline can be a cumbersome process and do-gooders may not know where to start. To address this issue and bridge the gap between demand and supply, Narayana Nethralaya, through its Dr Rajkumar Eye Bank, has launched an exclusive number 888401880 to which anyone can just give a missed call if they wish to donate their eyes.

This initiative number was announced by actor Raghavendra Rajkumar at the samadhi of his brother and actor Puneeth Rajkumar, who passed in October.

"The eye bank will send a link to a form that has to be filled to complete the formality of pledging. Once the form is filled and submitted, the intended donor will immediately get an eye-pledge certificate and further instructions for eventual eye donation," said Dr Bhujang Shetty,

Safari at Bannerghatta will cost you more

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru:

AFTER a gap of two years, the Bannerghatta Biological Park (BBP) management hiked safari rates, but did not change park entry rates. The revised rates will come into effect from January 1.

The decision was taken by the Zoo Authority of Karnataka (ZAK) and committee members at a meeting on Thursday. The proposal to hike safari rates was also proposed by Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation (KSTDC), BBP's safari partners.

While rates have been hiked by Rs 30 for non-AC bus safari, and by Rs 50 for AC bus safari, there is change for the six, seven and eight-seater safari jeep, Innova and AC Xylo for weekdays. However, prices have been increased by Rs 300 for weekends.

Vanashree Vipin Singh, Executive Director, BBP, said rates for family jeep safari package -- including a visit to the zoo, safari ride, butterfly park and camera charges -- have not been hiked for weekdays.

"We have done this because we want to encourage people to visit BBP on weekdays. The rush is very high on weekends and sometimes, it is beyond capacity. People take leave on weekdays for family holidays. So why not spare a day for a visit to the zoo," she said.

She explained that safari rates have been revised because of Rs 40 rise in fuel charges, Rs 40 rise in meat cost, 10 per cent increase in wages to staffers, maintenance charge hike and rise in consumer price index.

BBP is self-sustaining, and its expenditure is met from ticket revenue. The ticket for zoo visitors continues to be Rs 100 for adults and Rs 80 for children.

ITI workers protest for dues, invoke Kuvempu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

Workers on the 29th day of their protest outside the ITI premises

ON day 29 of their protest, employees of Indian Telephone Industries Ltd (ITI) celebrated Kuvempu Jayanti outside the factory gates as they were continued to be barred from the premises.

Writer and activist Du Saraswathi and Samakaaleena Samajika Samskrutika Vedike president Dr BR Manjunath were present at the protest along with members of other unions, who have shown solidarity with ITI employees. The workers celebrated Kuvempu Jayanti, focusing on the writer's concept of 'Vishwa Manava' or Universal Man. After months of pending payments as well as other issues, workers had formed a union and were allegedly singled out and barred from entering the premises on Dec 1.

ITI union representatives alleged that action was taken as their contracts expired. But the employees were not given any notice nor were they aware that they were working under contract, though many had been employed with the company for the nearly 35 years.

No solution was found till now. "Though the labour commissioner has asked the management to take the workers back, the company refuses. They said that we are part of a new contract and we should register through some portal. But the registration costs around Rs 600 per worker," said Hemanth Kumar, one of the leaders at the protest. The new contract being offered by the company states that workers should not demand their back-pay or any other pay.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

30th December: There's a whole cluster of planetary alignments today, all of which carry different significance. That means that there's something in it for everyone, and an opportunity for anyone with enough get-up-and-go to make the most of their lives. If there's a chance, seize it!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You should by now see that recent events have had implications regarding the extent to which you value your worth and talents as well as pointing to different financial options. You may be inclined to make a complete break with those past personal habits that you have outgrown.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
At last your head should be ruling your heart, and should continue to do so if you don't want personal disputes to spill over into your business affairs. Emotional entanglements have a way of draining your resources, but don't let your health suffer as well.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Try and see the advantages of a proposed arrangement, all the more so if you are inclined to dismiss the person or people involved as weak or incompetent. In fact, it's time to listen to wise counsel. And, when you have done that, you will be much better prepared to get your way.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The good news regarding your work is that Mars, which has been responsible for various underlying conflicts, is no longer as important as it once was. Lose no time in discussing problems with your colleagues. And don't do anything precipitate in the financial field.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Why ignore the fact that you have skills and talents as creative as anyone you know? This is no time to allow daily trivia to take up so much effort that you fail to develop your fascinating qualities. If work and hum-drum chores build up, I am afraid you'll just have to put up with it.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Don't complain too strenuously about the lack of support you've received from people who are supposed to be on your side. They can't very well help you if you haven't told them what you're doing! If your work commitments accumulate, you're liable to do something rash, but keep an eye on the consequences.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The situation at the moment seems to be improving steadily, although you are justified in being over-cautious and concerned, fearful that certain difficulties might return to haunt you. On the other hand, I can't see anyone getting the better of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Other people may be hoping that they'll be the beneficiaries of whatever success or good luck you have created for yourself. Yet there really is no reason why you should allow yourself to be blackmailed. It's just that when you're not sure what partners are up to, you imagine the worst. Relax!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Give careful consideration to a proposition or offer put to you now, because the moment you decide to get involved in a new scheme, a series of obstacles will be removed, opening the way to other possibilities. And that just has to be very good news, hasn't it?

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Adverse or challenging planetary aspects have been associated with recent feelings of insecurity, yet now that astrological alignments are changing so fast, it's important to let go of past fears and worries. And, as it happens, you do have most of the best ideas at the moment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
This is a testing time of the year for you although, in a sense, opportunities for change and improvement have never been as powerful as now. You must have faith in your ability to bring off a successful professional coup. You should also be convinced that you can win someone's heart.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Decisive aspects during the next couple of weeks urge you to reach final decisions that will affect your work for years to come. In the meantime, listen to the words of wisdom that flow from those more experienced than you. After all, it is never too late to learn.

K'taka needs cabinet rejig like Guj: Renukacharya

Says party and government can benefit from fresh faces and ideas

ARUNKUMAR HURALIMATH
@ Hubballi

EVEN as several MLAs, who won polls 2-3 times, continue to hope for ministerial berths during the remaining term of the BJP dispensation in the state, Chief Minister's political secretary M P Renukacharya has demanded that a cabinet reshuffle take place akin to the Gujarat model.

He said that those who were ministers in the last three terms should voluntarily step down and get involved in strengthening the party, and provide a chance to other MLAs to work as ministers. Claiming that he is not aspiring for a ministerial berth himself, he mentioned that he is only speaking for others.

Renukacharya said that fresh faces would bring fresh ideas, which were necessary for the party and the government. "Several legislators expect the Cabinet in Karnataka to be rejigged on the lines of the Gujarat model," he said on the sidelines of the party's state executive committee meeting here. He, however, confirmed that Basavaraj Bommai will continue as CM.

In September, the BJP completely overhauled the Council of Ministers in Gujarat by selecting new faces for the Bhupendra Patel-led government.

Meanwhile, RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa said he is ready to sacrifice his position for newcomers, provided the central leadership asks him to step down. He is keen on organising and strengthening the party, he added. Replying to Renukacharya's comment, Eshwarappa stated that one could comment easily, but it is difficult to play the role.

Meanwhile, the BJP is expected to enter the 2023 Assembly fray with a Hindutva agenda, with the same being discussed at the meeting. BJP Karnataka in-charge Arun Singh asked members to "expose the bad governance of the earlier Siddaramaiah-led Congress government".

With the BJP eyeing 150 seats, the party plans to approach people with its development work, and "highlight the bad governance of the Siddaramaiah government".

Singh alleged that during Siddaramaiah's rule, many pro-Hindu activists were killed and corruption was rampant. As a result many officials were suspended.

Withdraw bandh call, urges Bommai

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai appealed pro-Kannada organisations to withdraw their call for a Karnataka bandh on December 31. He said that the State Government has taken strong action against MES activists who indulged in vandalism in Belagavi recently.

'Bill may be passed in next session'

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that the Karnataka Protection of Right to Freedom of Religion Bill (anti-conversion Bill) will be passed and made into law soon. He said that he will also form a task force to implement and monitor it. The State Government is hoping to pass the contentious Bill in the next session.

Congress, JDS gird up for battle for Vokkaliga bastion

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

WITH the 2023 assembly elections barely 14 months away, the Congress and JDS are preparing to slug it out for supremacy in the Vokkaliga heartland of Old Mysuru.

KPCC president D K Shivakumar, sensing a "conspiracy" by the JDS and BJP, had sarcastically stated that he has no stamina to compete against JDS supremo H D Deve Gowda and his family members. The recent MLC polls gave a fillip to the Congress, which won most of the seats in the region -- except Hassan where Gowda's grandson Dr Suraj Revanna's victory was a face-saver for the JDS.

Shivakumar is keeping up the momentum with a 'padayatra' for implementation of the Mekedatu irrigation project. He has completed a tour of the region, including Hassan district, and managed to keep the party organisation on its toes, and also send a message to rival parties.

JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy responded quickly to the Mekedatu issue, claiming that it was he, as head of the Congress-JDS alliance government, who had submitted the Detailed Project Report (DPR) to the Centre. "As Tamil Nadu approached the Supreme Court, the Centre asked Karnataka to convince the neighbouring state. Will this padayatra fetch a nod from the Central Water Commission? Let the Congress demand that the BJP take an all-party delegation to New Delhi, and we will join," he suggested sarcastically.

He also alleged that the Congress has no moral ground to hold a padayatra, as the allocation of 9 tmcft water, of 64 tmcft in the DPR, was denied to Karnataka. Kumaraswamy said Shivakumar was creating a drama over Mekedatu.

Bajrang men charge SC members with conversion

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tumakuru

TENSION prevailed at Bilidevalaya, near Kunigal, when Bajrang Dal activists, led by the local BJP Gram Panchayat member Nagaraj, barged into the house of a Scheduled Caste 'handi jogi' community member, charging him with sheltering people involved in religious conversion. They accused them of converting residents to Christianity on Tuesday night.

The activists, led by Ramu Bhajrangi, and community members had a verbal duel for some hours and then approached Kunigal police to file complaints of assault against each other.

Four people, including three women from Hosadurga in Chitradurga, had arrived at the house and were offering prayers, following which the GP member alerted the activists. He claimed that the prayer meetings had been happening for a month in the house.

"They were converting about 15-20 innocents in the vicinity illegally," he alleged.

According to sources, police warned both sides and gave them a chance to reach a compromise.

Kharge to Modi: Is '40%' split?

LAUNCHING a frontal attack on Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Senior Congress leader and Opposition leader in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge tweeted on Wednesday, "As state election campaigns begin, PM Modi has again begun asking votes in the name of 'double engine' jumla. Modiji, let me remind you that the BJP govt in Karnataka is known as a '40% commission' govt. Please let the voters know what the commission split is for each engine?"

Kharge later told The New Indian Express, "We have not made the allegation against the double engine government, it is the contractors who have written directly to the PM. What action has been taken? The Prime Minister has to find out and respond."

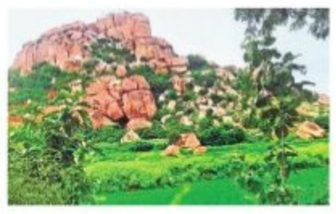
'Will develop Anjanadri Hill on lines of Ayodhya'

ARUNKUMAR HURALIMATH
@ Hubballi

THE government is expected to soon take a decision on developing Anjanadri Hill near Anegundi in Koppal district -- which is believed to be the birthplace of Lord Hanuman – on the lines of the temple for Lord Rama in Ayodhya.

Addressing delegates at the two-day BJP state executive committee meeting here, CM Basavaraj Bommai said, "A temple for Lord Rama is being constructed in Ayodhya. His devotee and companion Hanuman was born in our state. Therefore, the government will come up with plans to develop the Anjanadri Hill, popularly known as Kishkinda."

Meanwhile, the funds collected from the Endowments Department-owned temples are being used for other work. The government now plans to utilise temple funds only for temple development.



BSY visits JSS school in Dubai

BENGALURU: While the BJP state unit was holding its state executive meeting here, former chief minister BS Yediyurappa had a full day in Dubai, visiting JSS International School at the invitation of Suttur mutt seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra swami. Yediyurappa, dressed in his trademark white safari suit, addressed representatives of Kannada associations in Dubai on Wednesday morning. Yediyurappa, who is well acquainted with members of the NRI Forum and expat community in Dubai, requested them to invest in Karnataka. He also explained how Dubai was being connected through PM Narendra Modi's initiative. Yediyurappa was accompanied by his son Shivamogga MP B Y Raghavendra and family members as they went around JSS International School, which has about 2500 students. While the buzz about his absence at the meet continued, Yediyurappa's supporters defended him, saying he is only an invitee, and had informed the party earlier.

Party divided over Bellad resigning from Dharwad dist president's post

MALLIKARJUN HIREMATH
@ Dharwad

AS talks emerge about the probable resignation of Hubballi-Dharwad West MLA Arvind Bellad from the post of Dharwad district president, BJP leaders claim that the former stepped down from the position owing to 'technical' issues.

Party insiders, however, said that Bellad was unhappy with BJP's poor performance in the recent Council polls, and wanted to resign. However there is no official announcement over the matter.

Sources, meanwhile, said that Bellad's attitude has changed towards the party and he is maintaining a distance from local leaders. "The lack of coordination among local leaders has forced Bellad to take such a stern step. After the incident of cabinet expansion, Bellad has become inactive in the party, which has fanned such speculations," said a party source.

"We have observed that since he demanded the CM's post after B S Yediyurappa, his political direction began to change. He was opposed by many of his friends in the party. He was even let down by those who entertained him earlier, as he sought the post. All this turned him off," the source added.

However, Bellad's close associates in the party denied news of the resignation and other negative developments about their leader. "He is a strong Lingayat leader. The party is aware of the situation. It is not easy to neglect Bellad," said a BJP leader from Dharwad.

"A few intolerant people are busy spreading such stories. Bellad has the capacity to bring stability. In a bid to defame him, such activities are being carried out," he added.

However, Bellad did not comment on the issue, citing health concerns. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai also did not make any comment, saying he would look into it.

Modi govt committed to Mekedatu, says MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

STATING that it was Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led Central government which took the Cauvery dispute to a logical end, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha said the Mekedatu issue will also be resolved in the interest of the people of Karnataka.

Speaking to reporters here on Wednesday, the two-time MP said earlier the state had to release 195 TMC of water to Tamil Nadu, but the Modi government convinced the court to bring it down to 171 TMC, which helped us to get our share of water.

"Mekedatu project took a back seat during S M Krishna's tenure as chief minister while during Siddaramaiah's tenure, we supported it and even met the prime minister," he said.

Calling the padayatra planned by Congress "another gimmick", Simha said what is the need for a movement or a padayatra when his party was committed to take the project further. "Opposition must focus on discussing the subject in the Assembly," he said.

Gowda slams Congress' padayatra

HARADANAHALLI (HASSAN): JDS supremo H D Deve Gowda on Wednesday said the padayatra demanding implementation of Mekedatu Balancing Reservoir project by Congress leaders is nothing but a "political gimmick". Speaking to mediapersons after attending a puja along at Deveshwara temple in his native Haradanahalli, Gowda said those who neglected the Krishna and Mahadayi issues are now taking up a padayatra for Makedatu. Taking a dig at KPCC president D K Shivakumar, Gowda sought to know why the former neglected the Rs 9,000-cr project when he handled the irrigation portfolio.

India Inc builds digital muscle, but needs detailed roadmaps

RANJAN KUMAR
IIT-Kharagpur alumnus, Founder and CEO of Entropik Tech, a leading Emotion AI company

UNEXPECTED, unexampled, out of the ordinary -- there's no overstating how the last 18 months have jostled our lives and inflated the role of technology. Tech has moved to the forefront of almost every adaptation that we have made in a year of living through a pandemic. From acceptance of technology in the C-suite (executive level) to bringing everything, from work, education and hospital, to the home, technology in 2021 accelerated, brought about by social-distancing measures and stay-at-home situations.

Along the way, technology has changed the face of customer and employee engagement in IT. After years of being advocated, assessed and implemented with varying degrees of exigencies and achievement, digital transformation has enabled a rapid pivot to remote work in IT companies and startups. It digitised business processes, including customer and employee experience (CX and EX), to a severe stress test. Companies started prioritising resilience and turned to emerging tech to pass the test. And on the way, they learnt a few lessons: Build digital muscle to develop resilience, redefine the way technology and people work together, outline seamless customer experiences that cover both online and offline modes, enhance employee well-being and align societal goals and business goals.

LOOKING AHEAD 2022 LOOKING BACK

Leaders in the IT space are in a strong position as digital initiatives saved many businesses. But, what we learnt in the last few months is that the world is ever-changing. And so, businesses are evolving again. Digital transformation has helped organisations become more flexible and resilient in the face of adversity.

A key differentiator in the digital transformation process has been Artificial Intelligence, specifically Emotion AI. Businesses will prioritise building AI technologies that can interpret and respond to human emotions to connect with consumers. Emotion AI is well on its way to become, from a good-to-have, to a must-have business competence.

As we advance, companies and startups will need to adapt to the post-pandemic landscape as widespread hybrid work changes how employees and customers interact with them. And to sustain in the future, companies will need detailed roadmaps that showcase how they will digitise their business processes to achieve their short-term and long-term goals rather than reacting to events.

The coronavirus pandemic also saw startups recalibrate technology investments and, in many cases, hasten their spending plans for technologies that help support remote work, electronic commerce and supply chain processes. Their tech teams have been shifting rapidly over the past two years to address these growing demands, including remote work and virtual business. Digitisation has been used to meet the organisation's operational needs, but now it's time to focus on strategic alignment. Startups will need to focus on agility, business outcomes and improving customer experience through technology in the coming year. As data becomes more distributed, integrating a large volume of insights from different sources in disparate formats on the traditional system is a roadblock. So, startups' priority in 2022 will be to bring all of them under one source so as to make data more accessible.

Introduction of collaborative platforms will be a gamechanger in this environment. Conversation Intelligence is changing how conversational data is captured and used behind the scenes.

The convergence of these collaborative technologies is expected to gain strength in the next 12-18 months as businesses look to deliver on strategic goals around conversational, more immersive experiences.

Officers to monitor 100 containment zones in city, take action if norms are violated

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN the wake of rising micro containment zones in Bengaluru, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta has directed zonal and ward officers to keep a close watch on apartments, hostels and market spaces.

He told the media on Wednesday that there are 100 micro containment zones in Bengaluru, of which 50 per cent are in apartment complexes. In all, 27 doctors, medical health officers and 141 PHCs are keeping a close watch on cases from apartments, hostels and PG accommodations. The aim of forming micro containment zones and monitoring each case is to ensure that there is no spread.

He also issued directions to take stern action against all apartment complexes and resident welfare associations, if norms are not adhered to.

Similarly, a close watch is being kept on markets. In anticipation of the third wave and a rise in Omicron cases, zonal and ward officials have been told to keep a watch on the situation in markets and close them down, if need be. Stern action will be taken against those not following Covid appropriate behaviour, he added. Gupta said there is a rise in cases in apartments, hostels and PGs because many people are travelling, and most cases have a travel history. Officials are also keeping a watch on a rise in cases in other districts and states.

With cases spiking around the international airport, Gupta said each case is being assessed and a check will also be done on hotels, resorts and other spaces. Tests and quarantine measures are being taken to tackle the Covid-19 cluster in the apartment complex in Okalipuram, he added.

According to the December 28 health bulletin, of 95 active micro containment zones, 52 are from apartment complexes, 42 are individual homes and one is a hostel.

The breakup: are from Bommanahalli Zone (26), Mahadevapura (18), East Zone (13), South Zone (15), Yelahanka (11), West Zone (6), RR Nagar (5) and Dasarahalli (1).

Refund patient, Manipal Hosp told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ON finding evidence of Manipal Hospital charging a Covid-19 patient a higher rate than stipulated by the state government, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) ordered hospital managers to refund the patient immediately.

Yelahanka Health Officer Dr Bhagyalakshmi visited Manipal Hospital on Tuesday and confirmed that the hospital had received more than what is due for Covid-19 treatment.

"It is against the law to demand higher than government-stipulated charges. Hospitals have also acknowledged this. Hospitals need to keep Covid-19 patients informed about the government stipulated charges," a BBMP press note said.

As per the state government order, the charges per day are Rs 10,000 for general ward, Rs 12,000 for HDU ward, Rs 15,000 for ICU without ventilator, and Rs 25,000 for ICU with ventilator.

If private hospitals violate it, action will be initiated under the Karnataka Infectious Diseases (Prevention and Control) Act, Registration of Karnataka Private Medical Establishment Act and Rules and Disaster Management Act.

If these rules are found to be violated, the public can directly contact the office of Chief Health Officer (Public Health) (080-22975516), helpline number 080-22660000 / WhatsApp 9480685700.

Amul to set up its largest plant in TS, invest ₹500cr

New facility will have the capacity to process 5L litres of milk per day

SUNNY BASKI @Hyderabad

TELANGANA continues to attract major investments. The Amul Cooperative Society is the latest to join the list of companies to set up shop in the investor-friendly State.

The Gujarat-based dairy cooperative society on Wednesday announced its decision to invest Rs 500 crore and establish its largest and state-of-the-art plant in the State. The company singed an MoU to this effect in the presence of Industries Minister KT Rama Rao.

The plant will come up in the special food processing zone with an investment of about Rs 300 crore in Phase I and Rs 200 crore in Phase II. The plant will provide direct employment to more than 500 persons and opportunities to several ancillary industries.

The new plant will have the capacity to process five lakh litres of milk per day, which is expandable to 10 LLPD, to manufacture packed milk and value added dairy products, including as curd, butter-milk, lassi, yogurt, paneer and sweets.

Amul will also set up its bakery production division in Telangana to offer a range of products, including as breads, biscuits, traditional sweets and baked snacks, to its customers. With this plant, Amul will strive to procure the required milk and other raw material from Telangana farmers and the various cooperatives and FPOs operating in Telangana.

AP's initiative to boost income of dairy farmers

Vijayawada: Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy on Wednesday virtually launched Jagananna Palavelluva-AP Amul Project in Krishna district from his camp office in Tadepalli. The State government's latest initiative was floated to financially boost the dairy farmers of 264 villages in the district. Speaking at the launch, the Chief Minister said previously there was a buyer's monopoly across the State due to which the dairy farmers incurred losses and had meagre incomes. "To change the same, the government launched the initiative in partnership with Amul, to empower women self-help groups by encouraging milk cooperatives in the government sector, so that farmers can make profit," he added.

₹4.5cr mineral looted from govt land, reveals report

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Theni

MINERALS worth about ₹4.5 crore were dug up and sold from 182.50 acres of government land that were illegally sold in various places in Periyakulam, according to a report from the Department of Geology and Mines. The case was on Tuesday transferred to the CB-CID.

DGP C Sylendra Babu, in an order, said the Theni Superintendent of Police has been requested to give the related CD files to the CB-CID, and the DIG, Chennai has been asked to nominate an investigating officer to receive the files.

On December 23, 14 people, including eight government officials and former AIADMK Periyakulam Union Secretary Anna Prakash, were booked by the District Crime Branch police for allegedly illegally selling 182.50 acres of government land worth ₹2.13 crore. The plots, at Vadaveeranayakanpatti, Devathanampatti and Genguvarpatti in Periyakulam, were sold to 54 people between 2016 and 2019.

On Tuesday, the Department of Geology and Mines submitted a preliminary status report to district Collector KV Muralidharan, who forwarded it to Periyakulam Sub-Collector CA Rishab for further action.

High-level sources said 237 acres were illegally sold by making changes in the 'A' register of the land plots, and pattas were prepared with the help of revenue officials. "In 2015, the Department of Geology and Mines imposed a fine of ₹16 lakh on those who tried to dig minerals without proper permission. Following this, revenue officials indulged in malpractices to sell these lands to AIADMK members and relatives of revenue officials," a source said.

AP BJP chief trolled for cheap booze promise

ENS @ Vijayawada

BJP state president Somu Veerraju has received backlash for his promise to supply cheap liquor to people if the party is voted to power in Andhra Pradesh in the next Assembly elections.

Speaking at 'Praja Agraha Sabha' organised by the BJP in Vijayawada on Tuesday, Somu urged the people to cast one crore votes to the saffron party in the next Assembly elections and they would provide liquor for just ₹70. "If we have more revenue left, then we will provide liquor for just ₹50," he said.

The bizarre promise by the BJP State chief was trolled in social media. Several people even questioned if BJP could bring down the price of liquor to ₹70 and less, why is it not bringing the price of petrol to ₹70 per litre from ₹100.

Demand for B'luru-Mumbai high-speed rail sparks debate

ENS @ Bengaluru

A tweet by Vijeta Ananthkumar, daughter of the late Union Minister Ananth Kumar appealing to the Railway Minister to run a hi-speed rail between Bengaluru and Mumbai set off a debate online. SWR said the time taken by the existing train could be speedened up but a specific hi-speed train was not in the pipeline.

Vijeta, an environmentalist, tweeted: "Mumbai-Delhi distance is 1377 km and the fastest train takes about 17 hours. Mumbai-Bengaluru distance is 1120 km and the fastest train takes about 24 hours. @AshwiniVaishnav avare we need a high-speed train between these two mega cities @RailMinIndia."

It set off a discussion online with a few backing her suggestion while some detailed the infrastructure constraints. Sanjay Murthy tweeted: "The private bus operators lobby wouldn't allow that to happen. Fast rail network between these two cities is long pending."

A Senior railway official of SWR ruled out any high-speed corridor between Bengaluru and Mumbai. "In the recent proposal for nine high speed corridors there one proposed from Chennai to Mysuru via Bengaluru. However, there is a need to reduce the travel time between Bengaluru and Mumbai from 24 hours and this would be possible only if electrification and doubling is done throughout the route," she said.

Alert as water gushes out of Maha dam

ENS @ Belagavi

A massive amount of water flowed out of Radhanagari dam, near Kolhapur, due to a technical snag which resulted in the sudden opening of one of the dam's gates. As a result of the abrupt release of a large quantity of water, said to be in thousands of cusecs, a high alert was sounded in areas around Bhogawati river in Kolhapur district.

The released water from Radhanagari led to a massive rise in the level of Bhogawati river. The authorities were able to avert a major disaster and save property around Bhogawati river, according to sources. Authorities ordered an investigation to ascertain whether it was a man-made disaster or due to a technical snag.

Husband held for woman's murder

Reddy was also nursing a grudge against her husband for having a relationship with her daughter from the first husband," the police added. ENS

ILLEGAL RESORTS AROUND ANEGUNDI SEALED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Koppal

OFFICIALS, led by Assistant Commissioner Narayanareddy on Wednesday, sealed more than 50 illegal resorts around Anegundi in Gangavati taluk of Koppal district.

The resorts have been given 24 hours to wind up operations.

On Tuesday, Koppal DC S Vikas Kishore shot missives giving a 48-hour deadline to officials, including the Assistant Commissioner, to take action against illegal resorts and submit a report.

These resorts had resurfaced on agricultural land after illegal resorts were demolished on March 3, 2020 at Viruapapura Gaddi (an islet) due to alleged illegal activities.

Anegundi and 14 other villages of Gangavati taluk, besides 14 villages of neighbouring and newly-carved Vijayanagara district, come under the Hampi World Heritage Area and Management Authority (HWHAMA) where conversion of agricultural land for non-agriculture purpose is banned.

Spurt in resorts in the area can be attributed to international tourists visiting Hampi, Anegundi and surrounding areas.

Owners of "illegal" resorts are said to be demanding regularisation of resorts to promote tourism in the area, said sources.

However, the DC maintained that though revision of norms of 'Master Plan' for HWHAMA is underway, the same is yet to be approved by the State Government and as per existing norms, resorts or commercial establishments cannot function on agricultural land. The DC in his 'deadline missive' on Tuesday said that in case of failure, the government will recommend disciplinary action against officials, including the Assistant Commissioner and HWHAMA commissioner.

In fact, the DC had written to officials, including the Assistant Commissioner and HWHAMA commissioner, in September this year to initiate action against illegal resorts.

Following inaction, the DC had set the 48-hour deadline on Tuesday.

FCRA NON-RENEWAL LACKED FINESSE, DIGNITY & RESPECT

The non-renewal of the Missionaries of Charity's registration under the Foreign Contribution Regulation Act (FCRA), 2010, after the government noticed "some adverse inputs" has understandably outraged many people not only in India but also abroad. The NGO, started by Nobel laureate Mother Teresa, works among abandoned children, lepers, AIDS patients and a host of other underprivileged sections of the society. Its nuns and employees are widely recognised as one of the most selfless people and they are feted worldwide. Given this reputation, the government's rather cryptic statement that there were "some adverse inputs" against the charitable organisation has been generally met with disbelief. Most are of the view that the action falls in line with the squeeze the government has been putting on NGOs in the past few years, especially their funding from abroad. A recent report prepared by a foreign consultancy firm said that from 2014 to 2018, NGOs numbering upto 13,000 had to stop operations because their licences were cancelled by the government. The most prominent organisation that was forced to wind up was human rights watchdog Amnesty International. It shut its office last year allegedly because of government reprisals. Besides stopping the foreign funding of many NGOs, the government also amended the FCRA last year to put impediments in their functioning. Among the amendments enacted was the compulsory opening of a bank account in Delhi. This crippled the functioning of many organisations, especially at a time when many of them were engaged in Covid-19 relief and humanitarian work.

Of late, the Missionaries of Charity has made news for the wrong reasons. In Jharkhand, the police arrested an employee and a nun allegedly for child trafficking from a home run by the organisation. Earlier this month, a case was registered against the organisation in Vadodara, Gujarat, for allegedly indulging in religious conversion. Whether these constitute the "adverse inputs" cited by the Ministry of Home Affairs is difficult to say but even if these charges are well founded, the decades of charitable work by the Missionaries of Charity could have been taken into account and a less-controversial way could have been adopted to resolve the issue. The non-renewal of the organisation's FCRA registration lacked finesse, dignity and respect.

BJD PULLING OUT ALL STOPS TO WOO VOTERS

It's raining sops in Assembly poll-bound states. From Uttar Pradesh to Uttarakhand; Punjab to Goa, political parties are busy promising the moon to the voters. Be it the BJP, Congress, AAP or TMC, all are in the race to outdo the other in the five states where elections are due. Apart from Manipur, where the Armed Forces (Special Powers) Act is a key issue, welfarism is the buzzword in other states. Not far away in the East, Odisha too is headed for polls but to its rural and urban bodies. Here too, the ruling dispensation is pulling out all the stops to woo the voters. Last week, the Naveen Patnaik-led BJD announced a ₹1,444 crore house repair scheme for 30 lakh families in rural, urban and mining areas. Direct cash transfer in two slabs of ₹3,000 and ₹5,000 will be made to eligible beneficiaries under the scheme, which covers those who have received dwelling units under various state housing plans as well as those not under the ambit of the Central scheme. The government then declared livelihood assistance of ₹1,000 each for 96 lakh beneficiaries under both National Food Security Act and State Food Security Scheme as a measure of relief during Covid. A slew of infrastructure projects, financial inclusion plans for women SHGs, sports and industrial developments are being dished out at breakneck speed.

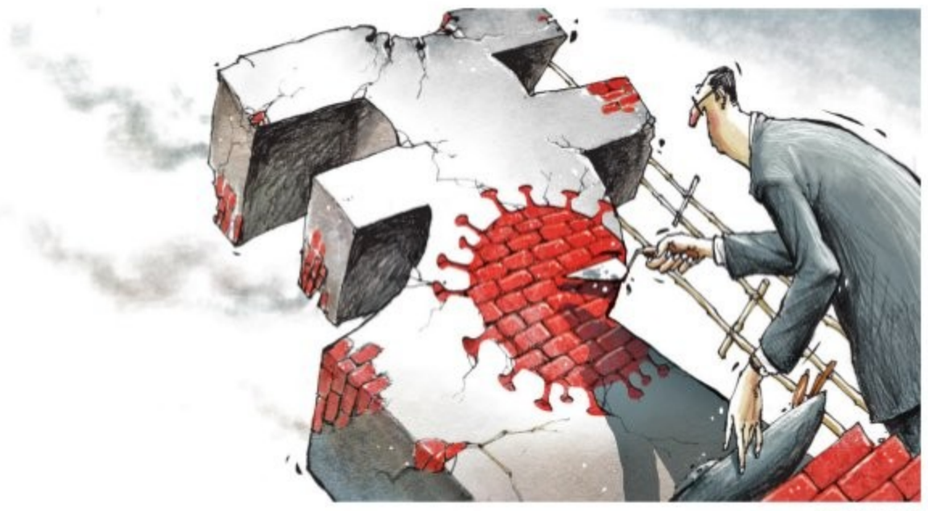
The spate of announcements, needless to say, has taken the wind out of the sails of opposition parties. Both the BJP and Congress are at their wit's end; if they openly criticise, they might risk voters' annoyance. Naveen, though, is miles ahead of the rest in the election game. The BJD chief toured most districts to launch a mega health-for-all scheme—billed as the game-changer—under which 96 lakh families are targeted to be covered. Just before the 2019 elections, his party pulled a rabbit out of the hat by launching KALIA, an income augmentation project that proved a clincher. His party is relentlessly pushing the welfare agenda, reaching out to key constituents. Naveen is in no mood to sit idly. The twin polls, he knows, are crucial and will set the tone for the 2024 general elections.

The government paying attention to MSMEs and entrepreneurs even as it tackles disruptions to education and health brought about by Covid-19 is the key to stability

REFLECTIONS ON INDIA'S ECONOMIC SCENARIO

TULSI JAYAKUMAR

Professor, Economics, & Chairperson, Family Managed Business at Bhavan's SPJIMR



SOUMYADIP SINHA

This New Year brings with it a sense of hope and expectation related to issues that will garner great attention, even as things improve. I write this column reflecting on some of the issues of the year gone by.

The state of the economy has been an area of concern even during the pre-pandemic period. Covid-19 revealed the fault lines in the economy, especially within the manufacturing and the construction sectors, with their high-dependence on migrant labour. However, things now seem to be better on the economic front, with both the World Bank and the IMF projecting growth rates for India in 2021–22 and 2022–23. This will place us among the fastest-growing economies in the world.

The government will need to attend to the disruptions in education, employment and income among the poorest sections of the society. While attention to pruning revenue expenditures are in the right direction, spending on initiatives like the MGNREGA would still be necessary to ensure more inclusive growth. The lower-budgeted expenditure on MGNREGA for fiscal 2022 compared to fiscal 2021 thus raises concerns of the equitable nature of growth to be sustained.

We witnessed the collapse of India's healthcare system during the pandemic and the burden imposed by large, out-of-pocket spends for a vast majority of the country's population. It also revealed the gaps in rural health infrastructure and the vulnerability of the rural population. With a public health expenditure that has ranged between 1.2% and 1.8% of the GDP since 2008–09 to 2021, it is clear that the government will need to incorporate these relatively 'silent' agenda issues in its long-term planning. A mere obsession with growth numbers may be undesirable and counterproductive.

As the year turns, one expects growth to be restored, even while inflation is kept under control. This may be a pipe dream given that international fuel prices have driven fuel inflation to the highest ever rate of 14.3% (in October 2021). Also, raw material prices are high. This coupled with the fuel inflation, high transportation costs and global logistics and supply chain bottlenecks will drive core inflation in the new year. In addition to these, the expected inflation (CPI-C) in March 2022 could be higher than 5%.

The differential impact of such inflation on growth prospects of different types of businesses will need to be considered by the government. The Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) have been particularly impacted by raw material price increases. Given the slack in the economy, they cannot raise prices of their own products to compensate for high-input prices. Moreover, with raw material inflation exceeding 100% in the case of crucial inputs like aluminium alloy, copper, kraft paper and engineering plastics, the MSMEs would find it difficult to execute their orders taken at much lower prices. The contracts signed by MSMEs with Public Sector Units (PSUs) imply that they would be blacklisted for non-execution of orders. The government will need to help MSMEs face such pricing challenges through soft loans while at the same time allowing for renegotiation of contracts.

> Even as employment growth has started looking up in the last few months, it is important to track jobs and see where it is being created. An increase in agricultural jobs would simply imply an increase in the number of people who are disguisedly employed

India's Current Account Deficit (CAD), which had turned positive for the first time in 17 years in 2021, was the high point of FY 2021. Such gains were on account of a contraction in import demand driven by the pandemic. As the economy recovers, and commodity prices surge, such gains in CAD will be lost in the fiscal year 2022.

Loss of jobs during a pandemic-led recession, as witnessed in India, was to be expected. Even as employment growth has started looking up in the last few months, it is important to track employment to see where it is being created. An increase in agricultural jobs would simply imply an increase in the number of people who are disguisedly employed. The recent trends in employment suggest an increase in rural jobs alongside a decline in urban jobs, or worse still a decline in agricultural jobs without a corresponding increase in non-agricultural jobs. The Labour Force Participation Rate (LFPR), especially among women, has also been sliding. The number of salaried jobs and entrepreneurs have also been falling. These employment trends would raise serious questions regarding the potential of growth to be broad-based and affecting all sections of Indians.

The government would need to pay more attention to creating entrepreneurs and dynamic enterprises that can create more jobs for India, even as the ease of doing business is improved for all enterprises. There is enough evidence to show that MSMEs may remain small and refuse to scale up due to lack of well-thought-out policies, which incentivises smallness. Government policies to support such enterprises may be linked to creating jobs or contributing to foreign exchange revenue.

Paying attention to MSMEs and entrepreneurs, even as the government tackles the disruptions to education and health brought about by the pandemic, would hold the key to tackling problems of growth, employment and stability for India in the new year.

THE GREAT PENANCE: IS IT ARJUNA OR BHAGIRATHA?

SAURABH SAXENA

Founder of Puratattva, a documentation of heritage sites

The famous Great Penance open-air bas-relief at Mamallapuram, Tamil Nadu, also known as Arjuna's Tapas or Ganga's Descent, requires no introduction. This panel, 30 metres long and 12 metres high, contains more than 150 figures comprising the Gods, superhumans, humans, animals, serpents and birds. Mamallapuram has gathered the attention of explorers, archeologists, historians and general visitors for the past two millenniums, so much so that two annotated bibliographies have been published so far, one in 1966 and another in 1980. I may not be wrong that the time is apt for another bibliography as numerous articles and books have appeared since 1980.

The first detailed account of the site and its monuments was published in 1788 by William Chambers. He mentions that the figures on the Great Penance panel represent the actions of the Pandavas as celebrated in the Mahabharata. The first Indian scholar account was from Lakshmayya Kavali, an assistant of Col Mackenzie in 1803. Kavali said the panel represents the tapasya (penance) of Arjuna to obtain Pashupatastra from Shiva. In 1911, J Ph Vogel proposed a different reading, saying the central cleft on the rock was the focal point of the sculpture. Taking this cue, Dubreuil and Goloubew in 1914 proposed a new identification for the panel. They explained that it represents the tapasya of Bhagiratha to get Ganga from the heavens down to the Earth. Since then, the scholar community is divided between these two themes. Michael Rabe mentions coming across 43 publications favouring Bhagiratha, 39 favouring Arjuna, and 25 either maintaining neutrality or offering another alternative.

These two legends, Arjuna's quest for Pashupatastra and Bhagiratha's feat for bringing Ganga to the Earth, are found in the Mahabharata. The local traditions were vocal about the influence of the Mahabharata over the sculpture since the earliest accounts of the site and there might be valid reasons for the same. However, is there a piece of clinching evidence that can tilt the balance towards one theme? Probably yes, and I want to discuss one such piece of evidence that may have a significant bearing on the identification of the panel.

To the left of the tallest elephant is a sculpture depicting a cat standing on her feet with her hands raised above in austerity. Around her are gathered several mice paying homage. According to the Udyoga Parva of the Mahabharata, Duryodhana sent Uluka as his messenger to ask Yudhishthira how he could be called righteous when he, with his brothers, was wishing for the destruction of this world through the war instead of being a dispeller of fear for all creatures. A person whose standard of righteousness is always up but whose sins are always concealed behaves similar to the hypocrite cat who once took her abode on the banks of Ganga with her hands upraised, pretending to practice virtue only to deceive her mice followers.

What is the purpose of this sculpture in the overall scheme of this panel? The placement of this sculpture plays an important role. To its diagonal opposite is the sculpture showing a man doing tapasya to Shiva. This man represents Arjuna in his quest for the Pashupatastra. To the left, opposite to the cat, is the sculpture showing four men practicing austerities in an ashrama. These four men represent the rest of the Pandava brothers doing austerities during their 12-year sojourn when they visited various tirthas and stayed at different ashramas. The Pallava artists masterfully placed these opposite themes, one of violence through obtaining weapons and another of peace through austerities, in a vertical alignment and connected both to the hypocrite cat sculpture. Duryodhana believed that the Pandavas were responsible for the great war and cannot claim to be righteous. Their behaviour is the same as that of the hypocrite cat. It connects well with the memories and traditions of the locals where they remembered the theme of the panel as Arjuna's tapasya.

But why did the Pallava artists conceive the panel in such a manner? This sculpture is a pun on the common understanding of the Mahabharata where the Pandavas were righteous and the Kauravas were the wrongdoers. This common understanding is perfectly justified; however, the sculpture presents the perspective from Duryodhana's side, where the latter believed he was righteous and the Pandavas wrong. Puns, riddles and conundrums were very much in vogue in that time period, especially during the reign of the Pallava king Mahendravarman I (580–630 CE). The king himself authored two Sanskrit farce plays, Mattavilasa Prahasana and Bhagavadajjuka. The sculpture of Shiva-Gangadhara in the Tiruchirappalli cave temple of Mahendravarman I is one of the best examples of multivalence and its associated inscription includes various puns on the overall theme. Does it suggest that this Great Penance panel at Mamallapuram is influenced or designed, at least in part if not fully, by Mahendravarman I? It is quite possible and future research may bring in fresh perspectives in this direction.

Address issues of doctors

Doctors are the backbone of society, more so in the current pandemic situation, especially with the rise in Omicron cases. So it is not acceptable that resident doctors in Delhi on strike for their rights are mistreated by the police in the name of curbing mobocracy, with even female doctors being thrashed. The issue is confined to Delhi for now, but the health ministry should act fast and pacify the doctors before it spreads to other parts of the country. This will be beneficial to both the doctors as well as the ailing patients.

K Nehru Patnaik, Visakhapatnam

Centre can't afford delays

The concerns of the striking doctors about the delay in the NEET PG counselling process are legitimate. The government cannot afford to drag its feet over this demand as any delay on its part would affect the emergency services in the wake of the Omicron variant making its presence known all over the nation.

Archaeological innovation

The report about Egypt digitally unwrapping the mummy of Pharaoh Amenhotep I showcases a huge breakthrough in the world of archaeology. To be able to unearth the mysteries of the ancient world with so much care and respect speaks volumes about the sweeping changes that technology has brought out. This is worthy of emulation all over the world, especially in India where archaeological evidence is in great need of immaculate preservation.

Tactic to buy time

There has been a continuous clamour for the withdrawal of the AFSPA for a long time. So constituting a panel to study this issue and submit its recommendations is simply a tactic to buy time and is not at all necessary. The facts are well known and only the government's approval is required to withdraw this measure for good.

Food habits in India

This is with reference to The vegetarian in every non-vegetarian (Dec 29). The author has highlighted a great truth about the food habits of people, especially in India. Even in the West, where they eat meat daily, a salad is added to many meals. As for India, it is rightly said that we are more vegetarian than non-vegetarian on most days.

Be vigilant in Punjab

Pakistan has been obsessed with India right from its inception (Pak's obsession continues from J&K to Punjab, Dec 29). It is a challenge to our nation that must not be taken lightly. Pakistan doesn't miss any opportunity to prey on political instability in any part of our country, particularly Punjab and J&K. The article rightly said that the Centre should be doubly vigilant in Punjab right now.

Congress to have new president by next September

Grand old party's membership drive scheduled till March to be extended by a month, much-awaited election expected only after that

After the election of the new president, a session of the All India Congress Committee will be convened, in which a decision will be taken on the election of the Congress Working Committee

Madhusudan Mistry, president of Congress Election Authority

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Indian National Congress will get its new national president by September next year. Preparations are on to conduct party elections, said Madhusudan Mistry, president of the Congress Election Authority.

The party had announced in October that elections for the post of president would be held between August and September and a membership drive was launched in November this year. The membership drive is scheduled till March 31 and is likely to be extended for another month. Mistry said the president election will be held by September and the entire exercise will be completed in time.

"After the election of the president, a session of All India Congress Committee will be convened in which a decision will be taken on the election of the Congress Working Committee," he said.

Mistry said it has to be seen how many people are contesting and depending on that it will be decided how the election will be held.

The party has been running without a full-time president since May, 2019, when Rahul Gandhi resigned taking responsibility of the party's debacle in the Lok Sabha elelctions. Sonia Gandhi took over as interim chief in August 2019 and since then, there has been talks of having presidential elelctions to elect a new party chief.

The elelctions have been deferred several times due to Covid-19 and Assembly elelctions but the party in November this year announced a detailed schedule. There has been growing demand from several state units for Rahul Gandhi to return as party chief but sources said that party's performance in five upcoming assembly elelctions will decide if Rahul Gandhi will take over the reins or he will continue to call shots from behind the curtains.

Meanwhile in Amethi, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra attacked the Uttar Pradesh government over the thrashing of a SC girl and said her party will launch an agitation if the accused are not arrested soon.

Her remarks come after a video purportedly showing a 16-year-old girl being beaten up and molested went viral on social media. The Congress general secretary tweeted, "If the criminals are not caught within 24 hours, Congress will work to wake you up by agitation."

CVC REPORT

Departmental cases pending against 80 CBI officials

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@ New Delhi

THE Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) investigates cases of bribery, corruption and crimes of serious nature. However, the Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) in its annual report has mentioned that as on December 31, 2020, as many as 80 departmental cases were pending against 80 CBI officials from Group A, B and C categories.

The CVC's 2020 annual report mentions that 50 departmental cases were pending against Group A CBI officers, and 30 against Group B and C officials and personnel.

"Inquiries are in progress at various stages in 38 out of 50 pending cases against the Group A officials and decisions on remaining 12 are pending with the Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT)," the CVC stated in its report. Similarly, inquiries are also going on in the departmental cases against Group B and C personnel.

The striking fact is 25 of the 50 cases against Group A officials were pending for more than four years, while six of them are two to four years old. Pendency is high in cases against Group B and C employees. Ten of the 30 cases are continuing for four years. Nine other cases are one to three years old.

Apart from this, CBI has set a benchmark in taking action against own officials and personnel, who were found to be working against the agency's professional impartiality and integrity in connection with investigation of cases. In recent years, the agency has arrested many of its officials and employees including an officer of the rank of deputy superintendent of police.

106 presented medals

The ministry of home affairs has awarded Ati-Utkrisht and Utkrisht Seva Padaks to 106 CBI officers and personnel. Ati-Utkrisht Seva Padak was presented to to 35 officers and Utkrisht Seva Padak to 71 officers and personnel for outstanding performance.

Ideological bias in news reporting worries CJI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

CHIEF Justice of India NV Ramana virtually graced the Red Ink Awards for Excellence in Journalism on Wednesday. He said that ideological stances and biases are seeping in news reporting.

The CJI said interpretation and opinion are colouring what should be factual reports. "News mixed with views is a dangerous cocktail. Connected to this is the problem of partial reporting, of cherry-picking facts to give it a particular colour. For instance, select portions of a speech get highlighted — mostly out of context — to suit a certain agenda."

He also said a healthy democracy can thrive and survive only with a fearless and independent press. For that, journalists need to grow in number. "As someone who started his professional career as a journalist, I can understand your difficulties and struggles. Speaking truth to power and holding up a mirror to society is an immense responsibility that is difficult to fulfil," he added.

"It is often said that legal profession is a noble profession. I can state that a journalist's job is noble and is an integral pillar of democracy. Like the legal professional, a journalist also needs to have a strong moral fibre and moral compass. Your conscience is your guide in this profession. Freedom of the press is a valuable and sacred right enshrined in the Indian Constitution. Without such freedom, there cannot be discussion and debate that is essential for the growth of democracy.," the CJI said.

"Every moment is available to the scrutiny of millions as things get reported 24x7. This places pressure not only on the person or professional being reported about but also on the journalist. In the race for ratings, the important journalistic tenet of verification before publishing is not being followed. Social media amplifies that incorrect news in seconds," he mentioned.

Import ban on 351 military elements and sub-systems

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

IN a push for indigenisation, the government on Wednesday notified a ban on import of 351 sub-systems and components for the armed forces under a staggered timeline, commencing from December next year.

In the ongoing pursuit of self reliance in defence equipment manufacturing, the listed items will be indigenized in the next three years. "This Aatmanirbhar initiative will save foreign exchange approximately equivalent of ₹3,000 crore every year," a defence ministry statement said.

The items banned from import include indigenous rocket launcher, diffuser, detector for thermal imaging camera, laser radiator Shakti electronic warfare system, double base propellant, laser warning sensor among others. The list also includes 2,500 items that have already been indigenised.

There were two lists issued by the ministry prior to this which mentioned 209 defence items to be procured from domestic sources. While the first list comprising 101 items was released in August last year, the second was released in May. It contained complex systems, sensors, simulators, weapons and ammunition like next generation corvettes, air borne early warning and control systems, tank engines, medium-power radar for mountains, MRSAM weapon systems among others.

Informing of India's defence and aerospace manufacturing market, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh had recently said it is worth ₹85,000 crore of which present contribution of private sector is approximately ₹18,000 crore. In 2022, the country's defence and aerospace manufacturing market will increase to ₹1 lakh crore and this could further rise to ₹5 lakh crore by 2047.

Final version of the Defence Production and Export Promotion Policy (DPEPP) 2020 is to be released soon. Mentioning strategic independence, late Chief of Defence Staff Gen Bipin Rawat had said at a DRDO event in 2020 that the country would win future wars with indigenously-developed weapons.

Thackeray-Governor feud intensifies

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE fight between Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray and Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari is intensifying. The Governor wrote to Thackeray on Tuesday saying he was "pained and dismayed" over the "intemperate tone and threatening tenor" of a note sent to him by the state government over the election of Assembly Speaker.

The Governor said it denigrated the high office he held. Thackeray had written to him asking for approval of the amended Speaker election business rule. But Koshyari called the amendment from secret ballot to voice vote unconstitutional.

Thackeray had issued a strongly-worded letter saying that making law and proposing amendments are the rights and prerogative of the state Assembly. He also said the Governor should not interfere in the works of the state Assembly.

Koshiyari wrote he had taken oath to protect and defend the Constitution, while the Maha Vikas Aghadi's proposal for holding the Speaker's election seemed to be unconstitutional and illegal.

The Governor said the government had cited Article 208 of the Constitution, which specifies that a House of the state legislature may make rules for regulating its conduct "subject to the provisions of this Constitution".

Koshiyari also asked why it had taken the MVA government 11 months to start the process of choosing a Speaker and said that the impact of the "drastic" amendment needed to be examined. As per Maharashtra Assembly Rules, under Section 6 (3), elections should be held to the post of the Speaker if more than one member has been nominated by ballot.

The Governor said he could not be pressured to give consent to a process "which prima facie appears to be unconstitutional and illegal".

Unruly crowd at social reform meeting irks Nitish

Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar in Muzaffarpur on Wednesday | PTI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Patna

BIHAR Chief Minister Nitish Kumar lost his cool once again at a Samajik Sudhar Abhiyan (social reform drive) in Muzaffarpur on Wednesday. He asked persons not willing to listen to him to leave the venue.

The venue was MIT campus. There were persons making noise when Nitish started talking about action taken to check liquor smuggling. Some people tried to enter the guarded area to hand over their petitions to the chief minister, who was addressing the gathering.

An irked Nitish asked them to leave immediately. "Jo sunna nahi chahte hain, ya jinka samajik sudhar se koi saorkar nahi hain, yahan se chale jayen (those who don't want to listen or are not concerned about social reforms, leave immediately.)," the chief minister said.

This prompted Muzaffarpur Senior Superintendent of Police Jayant Kant to pacify the protestors, who were adamant on meeting the chief minister. The situation was brought under control after intervention of senior officials.

Nitish mentioned that 75,300 raids had been conducted, 1,13,70 cases were registered, 13,000 people were arrested and more than 3.24 lakh litres of liquor were seized.

At a similar meeting in Rohtas earlier, Nitish had said those who wished to drink should avoid visiting Bihar, a state with complete ban on consumption of liquor.

Taking a swipe at Nitish's remarks, senior RJD leader and MLA from Maner, Bhai Birendra said, "Aaj kal Nitish ji ko kuchh jyada hi gussa aa raha hai (Nitish becomes angry quite often these days)."

'Aadhaar-voter ID link not good move'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

A group of 104 former bureaucrats and diplomats in an open statement has expressed strong reservations against the move of the Central government to link the electoral roll with the Aadhaar eco-system. They argue it may jeoparidise the independence of the Election Commission of India.

The group, stating it is apolitical, is apprehensive that passage of the Election Laws (Amendment) Bill, 2021, which seeks to utilise the Aadhaar database for voter cards, besides bringing in four qualifying dates on quarterly basis for entry in the electoral roll.

"The requirement of Aadhaar verification, even if voluntary, from a prospective or registered voter implies the superimposition of a government-issued identity card for identity and address verification that could seriously undermine the independence and integrity of the ECI and cast doubts on the fairness of the entire electoral process," stated the statement issued by the former officials of the Central and the state governments, including the likes of Anita Agnihotri, Salahuddin Ahmad, V S Ailawadi, S P Ambrose.

They argued that while voter ID is issued on the basis of citizenship, Aadhaar is issued on the basis of identity, without proof of citizenship being required. "Section 9 of the Aadhaar Act, 2016, is clear that Aadhaar may not be used as proof of address, age, gender, citizenship or relationship. Even if it is argued that voter IDs may be wrongly issued to non-citizens, the verification by Aadhaar in no way solves this vexing problem; in fact, it is quite likely that even non-citizens may be registered as voters if Aadhaar is used as the only proof," said the group.

Unlike Aadhaar enrolments, which need only production of existing documents, voter IDs are based on physical verification and 'house visits' by a Block Level Officer, besides being certified by the Electoral Registration Officer, which is not a case with Aadhaar.

It can't be ruled out that with the linkage of Aadhaar to voter IDs, and in the absence of physical verification by poll authorities, efforts may be made to manipulate electoral rolls by getting persons registered as voters in constituencies where they don't reside, they added.

Linking Aadhaar numbers to voter IDs will open floodgates for illegal profiling & targeting of voters, especially in run-up to polls, when Model Code of Conduct is not in place

Mumbai: The Enforcement Directorate (ED) submitted a charge sheet on Wednesday against former Maharashtra Home Minister Anil Deshmukh in a money-laundering case. The ED is probing allegations that Deshmukh had asked dismissed police officer Sachin Vaze to extort ₹100 crore a month from bars and restaurants in Mumbai. The same allegations were made by former Mumbai Police Commissioner Param Bir Singh. ED officials apparently found that ₹4.7 crore was handed over by Vaze after extorting bars and restaurants in Mumbai. The charge sheet runs over 6,000 pages, where Deshmukh has been named as prime accused while his sons Hrishikesh and Salil have also been named as accused in the money-laundering case. ENS

Cong high command will finalise U'khand tickets

To avoid factionalism, candidates to be decided only after Delhi nod

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

Political PULSE

WITH factionalism intensifying in the Congress unit in Uttarakhand, the party high command has decided to have last word in the ticket distribution for the Assembly elections in the state.

A two-day meeting of the screening committee for the ticket distribution started in Delhi on Wednesday.

"The meeting will scrutinise applications of the aspirants from all 70 Assembly seats. The names will be forwarded to a committee comprising former CM Harish Rawat, state party president Ganesh Godiyal, leader of opposition Pritam Singh and state in-charge Devendra Yadav. The committee will then send the final names to the party president for approval," said a party insider.

The party might release the first list of candidates soon.

Earlier this month, the screening committee president had interviewed the aspirants who claimed they could win the seat for the party.

The hill state has 70 Assembly constituencies. Sources said the Congress is moving cautiously given the results of the last Assembly election, in 2017, when it shrunk to just 11 seats with the then CM Harish Rawat losing in both the seats he had contested.

The party is trying to avoid giving tickets on the basis of recommendations or family background as winning or losing on even one seat can affect the chances of the party in forming the next government, said one of the state leaders.

With Rahul Gandhi's rally on December 16 attracting huge crowds, party workers are positive of electoral success by riding on anti-incumbency.

Yogesh Kumar, a political commentator based in Dehradun said, "The Congress is extremely cautious with Uttarakhand and is in no mood to take any chances. Central leadership of the party is taking the matter in their own hands to avoid any roadblocks to power."

Electoral history of the state goes against the incumbent party. In the last four Assembly polls in 2002, 2007, 2012 and 2017, the BJP and Congress had captured power alternately.

The matter has been scheduled for hearing on January 3, 2022. ENS

ECI asks UP officials to remain vigilant over use of black money in polls

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

REVIEWING the preparations for the Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections, the full bench of Election Commission of India headed by Chief Election Commissioner Sushil Chandra met senior administrative and police officials in the state on Wednesday.

After going through the revised electoral lists and analysing the ratio of male and female voters in the state, the poll panel met divisional commissioners, district magistrates, district electoral officers, inspectors general, commissioners and superintendents of police of all 75 districts at Tilak Hall of the UP Vidhan Bhawan.

With reference to seizure of a huge amount of cash stashed on the premises of Kanpur-based businessman Piyush Jain, the election commission asked the top officials to be vigilant over circulation and use of black money during the upcoming polls. The officials were also asked to be vigilant in the border districts and to keep a close tab on smuggling of illegal liquor, especially in towns of western UP.

On Thursday the poll panel will hold a series of meetings with the chief secretary and the director-general of police.

The EC on Tuesday held meetings with representatives of various political parties who all urged the panel to hold the elections as per schedule. The CEC is accompanied by election commissioners Rajiv Kumar and Anup Chandra Pandey besides other senior officers.

During the meeting with the EC, representatives of SP, BSP, Congress and RLD demanded transfer of state government officers who, they claimed, were working on the directions of the BJP. Seeking a vigilant eye on the misuse of government machinery by the ruling party, the opposition sought strict imposition of model code of conduct once the election is announced.

SP planned ruckus at Modi rally: BJP

The BJP on Wednesday accused the Samajwadi Party of trying to create riot during the Kanpur rally of Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday. The saffron party claimed the student wing of the SP tried to indulge in arson and rioting by using a camouflaged vehicle with the photograph of the prime minister on it. BJP spokesperson Sambit Patra said: "On the day when the prime minister was set to address a rally in Kanpur, a viral video has come to light in which student leaders of the SP are seen torching a vehicle which was given the appearance of that belonging to the BJP. The conspiracy apparently was to create situation of rioting in the city and scare the people from attending the rally," he alleged.

Ready for virtual rallies: Shekhawat

Union minister and the BJP's poll in-charge for Punjab, Gajendra Shekhawat, on Wednesday said the party was ready to hold virtual rallies, if the situation demanded that. "The BJP is fully prepared. The BJP did virtual rallies during the West Bengal Assembly polls also. And when the political parties across the world were in hibernation, during the first and the second wave of Covid-19 even at that time BJP workers were reaching out to people through virtual platforms," he said in response to a question on virtual campaigning at the BJP headquarters. He was speaking to the media after the induction of several state leaders into the party, including former SAD leader Jagdeep Singh Nakai and former Congress MLA Shamsher Singh.

Omicron: Ex-CEC says govt should ban political gatherings at once

New Delhi: While political rallies continue unabated amid rising Covid cases, a former chief election commissioner said government can ban political gatherings even before election announcement by the poll panel. He said the government must ban rallies instead of wasting time. Amid the debates demanding postponing polls or banning polling rallies due to the rising Omicron cases, former chief election commissioner S Y Quraishi said, "Surprised by the debate whether the EC should ban rallies when model code kicks in weeks/ months later, while massive rallies are happening NOW! Govt must ban them at once instead of wasting time trying to pass the buck to EC, whose role comes in much later," he said on Twitter. Channi says Kejriwal creating Omicron hype to get elections postponed; AAP hits back

Punjab CM Charanjit Singh Channi at a rally in Patiala on Wednesday | PTI

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

PUNJAB Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi on Wednesday alleged that AAP national convener and Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal was hyping up the Omicron threat with an ulterior motive to get the Assembly polls postponed. The BJP, too, wanted the same, he added.

"The AAP has imposed a night curfew in Delhi to show that the situation is serious and these elections should not be held," Channi said and claimed his government was ready for the elections.

Terming his remarks as "baseless" and "immature", AAP's Harpal Singh Cheema said night curfew had been imposed not just in Delhi but some other states as well. The Congress was scared of Kejriwal's popularity in Punjab and hence making such allegations, Cheema claimed.

The AAP on the other hand, trained guns at Punjab Congress chief Navjot Singh Sidhu over his controversial remarks mocking policemen. If Sidhu thought so low of state police officers, then he should return the security provided by them, the party said.

AAP's Punjab affairs co-incharge and Delhi MLA Raghav Chadha termed Sidhu's comments unfortunate and shameful and said it was "so below the belt that it does not even deserve an apology".

At a recent rally in Sultanpur Lodhi, pointing towards sitting MLA Navtej Singh Cheema, Sidhu had said he could make a 'thanedar' wet his pants. He repeated the comment at a rally in Batala while praising local leader Ashwani Sekhri. As he came under fire from various quarters, Sidhu sought to play it down saying the remarks should not be taken literally.

In a dig aimed at state presidents of Congress and AAP, Navjot Singh Sidhu and Bhagwant Mann, respectively, SAD chief Sukhbir Singh Badal said Punjab needed a chief minister with a vision and not one who could only crack jokes. He said he had rightly declared Sidhu as a misguided missile which could explode anytime anywhere to cause destruction whereas Mann lacked the caliber to head the state.

Inter-state manhunt for seer over Gandhi speech

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

CHHATTISGARH Police is on an inter-state hunt for Hindu seer Sant Kalicharan over his alleged statements against Mahatma Gandhi. Teams have been sent to Maharashtra, MP and Delhi in search of the 'absconding' seer.

Kalicharan, after an FIR was lodged against him in Raipur, reiterated his assertions against Gandhi in a video clip issued from an unidentified place and said he wouldn't regret the remarks even if he had to face death penalty.

Confirming that the police are on a manhunt, a senior police officer said a team has been sent to Akola where the seer's ashram is located.

A two-day Dharam Sansad was organised in Raipur on December 25-26 where Gandhi emerged as an additional target to revile besides Islam and Christianity.

"If he (Kalicharan) is so courageous, why doesn't he surrender and face the law instead of giving statements from outside Chhattisgarh," said Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel.

Senior BJP leader Raman Singh claimed the Dharam Sansad was sponsored by the ruling Congress, which, however, rejected the claim.

KIN OF SLAIN MEN REJECT HYDERPORA ENCOUNTER REPORT

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE families of three locals killed in the Hyderpora encounter last month rejected the probe report of J&K Police's Special Investigation Team (SIT), terming it "nothing less than lies". Valley-based political parties also flayed the report while the SIT chief cautioned politicians against making "speculative statements".

Lateef Magray, father of Amir Magray who was among the four persons killed in the encounter, said the SIT report is nothing less than lies. "They have made a fraud report to save themselves. They are telling lies," he said.

The SIT head, DIG Sujit Kumar Singh, on Wednesday said the probe found that Amir was a militant and associate of foreign militant Bilal Bhai killed in the encounter. Besides the foreign militant and Amir, two locals Altaf Bhat and Dr Mudasir Gul were also killed in the encounter on November 15.

Singh said Altaf was taken as a human shield by two militants and killed in crossfire.

Brother of slain Altaf, Abdul Majeed Bhat while rejecting the SIT probe said, "It is totally false. My brother had torture marks on body. How come he was made a human shield when hundreds of security men were present there."

Ghulam Mohammad Rather, Dr Mudasir's father, said the SIT probe was aimed only at giving clean chit to security forces.

Families of the trio are demanding judicial inquiry into the killings. Valley-based political parties have also rejected the SIT report.

Data suggest Omicron impact milder; India won't lower guard

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

WHILE the number of Omicron cases in India has reached nearly 800, mounting evidence suggests that the new Covid variant may be milder than other mutations and causes far fewer hospitalisations, leaving a question mark over the rationale behind the scare-mongering around the new strain.

According to the latest data released by the Health Security Agency in the UK, where Covid cases have been skyrocketing, there have been just 668 hospital admissions among patients who have either swabbed positive for Omicron or are heavily suspected of having it.

The UK, like South Africa, now has Omicron as the most dominant Covid-19 virus variant. However, the situation is under control with cases falling and no substantial pressure on the health systems.

The situation is no different in India. "What needs to be seen is how many of the new cases need hospitalisation or ICU care — that will give an indication of what to expect from this imminent Omicron wave in the country," said a member of the national Covid-19 task force, adding that the situation in Delhi and Mumbai looks optimistic with not many people needing hospital care.

Cyber security centre likely next year

The Chandigarh Administration is all set to establish a cyber security operation centre in the city to protect the public from being duped of their money. The administration is in regular touch with the Ministry of Home Affairs and the centre is likely to be established next year under the supervision of the Chandigarh Police. There has been a steep hike in cyber crime cases in the city, with 3,306 complaints being received by the police till July this year. Around 6,300 complaints of cyber crime were received in 2020 while the figures were 4,793 in 2019; 3,167 in 2018 and 3,167 in 2017.

New councillors to take oath on New Year Day

It has been tentatively decided that all 35 elected councillors of the Chandigarh Municipal Corporation will be administered their oath on January 1, the New Year Day. All the three parties — Aam Aadmi Party, BJP and Congress — have started efforts to rope in more councillors to elect the mayor. A party needs at least 19 votes in the House to get its mayor nominee elected. The AAP has 14 councillors and needs five more votes to elect its mayor candidate. Meanwhile, the BJP has 12 councillors and combining the vote of ex-officio member — local MP Kirron Kher — it has 13 votes, leaving it six votes short of majority. The Congress, which is on the third spot with eight councillors, is trying to keep its numbers intact. The BJP was in power in the civic body but received a jolt in the recent election.

Covaxin for eligible teens from January 3

The Chandigarh Administration will start administering Bharat Biotech-made Covaxin to all eligible teens from January 3. There are around 76,000 teens in the city between the age 15 and 18 who are eligible for the Covid-19 vaccine. These children will receive two doses of Covaxin at an interval of 28 days intramuscularly in the arm. There will be separate sites for the vaccination of children and these sites will be finalised soon. All healthcare workers, frontline workers and senior citizens with comorbidities can receive their booster dose from January 10.

Restrictions on coaching institutes in the city

The persons who have not got themselves inoculated with both doses of Covid-19 vaccine will not be allowed to enter educational or coaching institutes in Chandigarh from January 1. An order issued by the Chandigarh Administration reads: "Educational institutions, including coaching and tuition centres, will only allow fully vaccinated adults or those who are not due for the second dose to enter the vicinity. The rules will be applicable to both teaching and non-teaching staff, besides other visitors." An official added that all violators who are not fully vaccinated will be fined `500 and action will be taken against the institutions.

Hong Kong's media house closes after arrests

Stand News was one of few openly critical voices in semi-autonomous Chinese city

HONG KONG

HONG Kong pro-democracy media outlet Stand News said on Wednesday it will close after a police raid and arrests of seven current and former staff members, in the latest blow to the city's rapidly shrinking press freedoms.

Suppression of the semi-autonomous Chinese city's local press has increased in the wake of 2019's huge and often violent democracy protests and Beijing's subsequent imposition of a sweeping national security law.

On Wednesday morning, police officers burst into Stand News' office, seizing phones, computers, documents and thousands of dollars, while hauling its acting editor-in-chief into the headquarters in handcuffs as it was searched.

"Because of the current situation, Stand News will stop operating immediately," the outlet said later in a statement on Facebook.

Stand News said its website and social media would no longer be updated and would be taken down soon. It added that acting editor-in-chief Patrick Lam, who was among those arrested, had resigned and all employees were terminated.

Steve Li, senior superintendent of the national security police, accused the media outlet of publishing news articles and blog posts between July 2020 and November 2021 that incited hatred towards the Hong Kong government, among other alleged crimes.

"They described Hong Kong protesters as 'being disappeared' and 'violated'... These are malicious allegations without any factual basis," Li told a press conference.

The seven individuals were arrested under a British colonial-era law for "conspiracy to publish seditious publication". More than 200 officers were deployed to search the outlet's newsroom with court authorisation to seize journalistic materials, police said.

Around lunchtime on Wednesday, they could be seen hauling boxes from the office. Li said they seized about $64,100 in cash. AFP

Russian court hits Memorial rights group with curbs

MOSCOW

A Moscow court on Wednesday hit Russia's most prominent rights group, Memorial, with a second ban in as many days despite an international outcry. Judge Mikhail Kazakov ordered the dissolution of Memorial's Human Rights Centre, which campaigns against contemporary rights abuses in Russia, at the request of prosecutors.

On Tuesday, the country's Supreme Court ordered the dissolution of Memorial International, the group's central structure which chronicles Stalin-era purges and maintains the group's extensive archives in Moscow.

That ruling was slammed by US Secretary of State Antony Blinken and EU foreign policy chief Josep Borell, at a time when tensions are already high between Russia and NATO over the Ukraine conflict. The trials cap a year that began with the jailing of President Vladimir Putin's top critic Alexei Navalny and signal the end of an era in Russia's post-Soviet democratisation process, which began 30 years ago this month.

Prosecutors accused Memorial's rights centre of failing to use on its publications the "foreign agent" label, which denotes organisations that receive funds from overseas, and allegedly justifying terrorism and extremism. During Wednesday's hearing at the Moscow City Court, a prosecutor charged that it was actually Memorial that violated the rights and freedoms of Russians and cited an alleged lack of accounting transparency.

After the ruling, several dozen supporters applauded Memorial's lawyers outside of the courthouse in freezing temperatures. "We had no illusions," said lawyer Ilya Novikov. "But it is very important that this ship is sinking with a raised flag." Alexander Cherkasov, head of Memorial's rights centre, branded the court decision "political" and said the group will continue working "somehow".

Supporter Yelena Ponomaryova described the ruling as the "collapse of the entire judicial system".

"It's a shameful decision," she said. Memorial, Russia's most prominent rights organisation, was founded in 1989 by Soviet dissidents including Nobel Peace Prize laureate Andrei Sakharov. AFP

Capitol riots panel to not seek some records

WASHINGTON

The US House committee investigating the January 6 insurrection at the US Capitol has agreed to defer its attempt to get hundreds of pages of records from the Trump administration, holding off at the request of the Biden White House.

The deferral is in response to concerns by the Biden White House that releasing all the Trump administration documents sought by the committee could compromise national security and executive privilege.

US President Joe Biden has repeatedly rejected former President Donald Trump's blanket efforts to cite executive privilege to block the release of documents surrounding that day. But, Biden's White House is still working with the committee to shield some documents from being turned over.

Trump is appealing to the Supreme Court to try to block the National Archives and Records Administration, which maintains custody of the documents from his time in office, from giving them to the committee. AFP

WASHINGTON: The United States on Wednesday appointed an envoy to defend the rights of Afghan women, signaling a key priority as the Taliban ratchet up restrictions. Rina Amiri, an Afghan-born US scholar will take the role of special envoy for Afghan women, girls and human rights, Secretary of State Antony Blinken announced. Months after the United States ended its 20-year war in Afghanistan, Blinken said that Amiri will address issues of critical importance. AFP

Pak buys 25 Chinese J-10Cs to make up for India's Rafales

Islamabad: Pakistan has acquired a full squadron of 25 Chinese multirole J-10C fighter jets in response to India's purchase of Rafale aircraft, Interior Minister Sheikh Rashid Ahmed said on Wednesday. The minister told reporters in his home city of Rawalpindi that a full squadron of 25 all-weather aircraft comprising J-10C will attend the Pakistan Day ceremony on March 23 next year. Apparently, China has come to the rescue of its closest ally by providing J-10C, one of its highly reliable fighter jets. "Pakistan Air Force is going to perform the fly-past of China's JS-10 (J-10C) aircraft in response to Rafale," Ahmed said. The J-10C aircraft were part of the Pak-China joint exercise last year, where experts from Pakistan had the opportunity to have a close look at the fighter jets. PTI

Bajaj begins work to set up EV production plant

₹300-cr unit to make 5 lakh EVs; first vehicle expected by June '22

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

FACING competition from newcomers such as Ola Electric and Ather, Bajaj Auto is investing ₹300 crore in expanding its electric vehicle (EV) manufacturing capacity.

Bajaj informed that it has commenced work at a brand-new unit at Akurdi, which will have a production capacity of 5,00,000 EVs. The first vehicle from Bajaj's new unit is expected to roll out by June 2022.

This expansion plan comes when legacy two-wheeler manufacturers, be it Hero MotoCorp, TVS or Bajaj, are increasing their focus on developing EVs, market for which at present is almost entirely dominated by new-age players. Recently, Hero MotoCorp had said that it would be launching its first EV by March 2022 while TVS is investing ₹1,200 crore in future technologies and EVs in the next four years.

"...this investment at Akurdi completes the virtuous cycle of hi-tech R&D competencies, high-efficiency engineering capabilities, world class supply chain synergies, and global distribution network which should leapfrog us into a market leading position in EVs in India and overseas."

RAJIV BAJAJ, MD, Bajaj Auto

Rajiv Bajaj, MD, Bajaj Auto, said, "Going forward, for the Bajaj portfolio, except for implementing one state-of-the-art ICE platform that is currently under development, all our R&D drive train resources are now laser focused on creating EV solutions for the future."

He added, "...this investment at Akurdi completes the virtuous cycle of hi-tech R&D competencies, high-efficiency engineering capabilities, world class supply chain synergies, and global distribution network which should leapfrog us into a market leading position in EVs in India and overseas."

According to data, sales of high-speed electric 2-wheeler have witnessed a near 4x growth in CY2021 as against CY2020. By December 2021, e-2wheelers sales had surpassed the 1,00,000-unit mark for the first time in a calendar year. While Bajaj and TVS have an e-scooter in their portfolio, their market share is much lower than that of the top 3 players.

'Housing sales to clock 50-60% growth'

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

AFTER being impacted by regulatory norms and low demand for years, India's real estate sector witnessed some positive action in 2021. Backed by low interest rates, stamp duty cuts by state governments and a need to switch to bigger homes, housing sales staged a V-shaped recovery even as the overall economy is yet to recover fully from the woes of Covid-19.

According to Anuj Puri, chairman of real estate consultancy firm Anarock, new launches in 2021 are likely to increase by at least over 70% across the 7 top cities while average sales growth could be above at least 50-60% in 2021 as against 2020. Housing sales during the January-September period of 2021 across the top seven cities were up by 5% than the whole of 2020.

"As of now, we think both sales and new launches may inch closer towards 2019-levels and demand will remain steady and be driven primarily by end-users, so there won't be any unnatural speculative spikes," Puri told TNIE.

He added that hardening interest rates may play a factor in overall demand in 2022 (most likely the second half), but the new pandemic-infused desire for home ownership will remain strong throughout the year. The other worrying factor for the industry is continuous increase in prices of raw materials which is expected to push property prices by 5-10% next year.

"Prices will firm up owing to the rising input costs as at some point developers will have to stop absorbing further increase in input costs," said Rajat Rastogi, Executive Director of Mumbai-based developer Runwal Group. He added that keeping aside the threat posed by the new variant, the real estate sector should see a great 2022.

The industry also expects ultra-high net-worth individuals and NRIs to continue with their investment. "The residential real estate market in India has become more lucrative for UHNIs and NRIs as a result of the increased transparency and ease in investment norms. With RERA ensuring transparency and laws allowing 100% FDI in construction, Indian real estate is witnessing sharp investment infusions from NRIs, said Shraddha Kedia-Agarwal, Director of Transcon Developers.

CCI tells Karnataka High Court no action on Google till Jan 5

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN view of the undertaking given by the Competition Commission of India (CCI) that there will not be any precipitative action on the matter, the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday adjourned the hearing of a petition filed by Google India to January 5, 2022.

Google India and others moved the High Court, challenging the order passed by the CCI on December 14, 2021 pertaining to an investigation into PlayStore rules. The CCI probe follows a petition filed by the Alliance of Digital India Foundation (ADIF), a startup industry body seeking relief from certain categories of new PlayStore policies.

Hearing the arguments of Additional Solicitor General (ASG) of India N Venkataraman on behalf of CCI and senior advocate Gopal Subramanium, representing Google India, vacation bench of Justice BM Shyam Prasad noted that there is a unanimous submission that no precipitation will take place in the matter till January 5, 2022, the next date of hearing.

During the brief hearing on the urgency of the matter, Subramnyam questioned the legality of CCI's order. Defending the action of CCI, Venkataraman gave an undertaking that there will not be any precipitative action till the next hearing.

As an interim relief, Google India sought more time to reply to CCI's query relating to the ongoing probe.

Earlier this month, Google extended the deadline for implementation of compulsory use of Google Billing systems for in-app sales digital goods and services, from March 31, 2022 to October 31, 2022.

'No formalised union for workers'

ONLY Flipkart and BigBasket scored a point in providing minimum wage to workers, but they did not get any points on providing a living wage, which is over the minimum wage if workers could not sustain themselves and provide for their families.

Ola and Uber scored a zero, which meant that they did not pay minimum wages to their workers. Representatives of Ola and Uber did not react though TNIE tried to contact them repeatedly.

Also, these companies do not have a policy to help workers in case of a risk to their health and safety, have not provided clear and accessible contracts, do not inform workers of loss of pay or changes in contracts, and have no formalised union for workers to voice their concerns and give suggestions.

"We reached out to all the platforms, but only some responded. There has been no response from Ola and Uber after we sent them the preliminary findings," said Prof Balaji Parthasarathy, one of the principal investigators for the report.

CLARIFICATION ON SC VERDICT

NRIs don't need nod to buy, sell properties: RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has clarified that Overseas Citizen of India (OCIs) do not require its prior approval for acquisition/transfer of immovable property in India.

The banking regulator in a statement on Wednesday clarified that NRIs/OCIs are governed by provisions of Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA) 1999 and do not require prior approval of RBI for acquisition and transfer of immovable property in India, other than agricultural land/ farm house/plantation property.

The confusion arose after a Supreme Court verdict passed in February 2021 held that the condition laid down under the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act (FERA) 1973 of obtaining general or special permission of the RBI for transfer or disposal of immovable property situated in India by sale or mortgage by a person, who is not a citizen of India, is mandatory.

After this verdict a large number of queries from OCIs were being received at various offices of RBI. The RBI has clarified that the said Supreme Court judgement was related to provisions of FERA 1973, which has now been repealed, and hence does not apply to NRIs and OCIs anymore.

Sahara: ₹24k cr lying unutilised with Sebi; unreasonable to ask for more

PTI @New Delhi

SAHARA Group on Wednesday said it is unreasonable to ask it to deposit more money as funds totalling ₹24,000 crore are lying unutilised with regulator Sebi for the last nine years and it was hurting the business interests of the group.

The statement comes a day after Sebi Chairman Ajay Tyagi said Sahara is yet to fully deposit the money ordered by the Supreme Court in August 2012 and that the group has so far given around ₹15,000 cr while the total amount due to be deposited is ₹25,781 cr.

According to Sebi's FY21 annual report, the regulator had paid back only ₹129 crore to bondholders and that it was maintaining an escrow account with over ₹23,000 crore.

In a statement, Sahara Group said Supreme Court had ordered on August 31, 2012 to deposit principal amount and interest assuming that every depositor has to be paid which was not the case and this came to the knowledge of the court within three months' time from pronouncing the order.

It, further, said the regulator after giving four rounds of advertisements in 154 newspapers in the last nine years across the country has repaid only ₹129 crore to the investors of Sahara.

In its last advertisement that was published in March 2018, Sebi made it clear that it would not entertain any further claim received after July 2018, Sahara said. "It means that for Sebi there are no more claimants to be paid which is due to the fact that majority of investors were already repaid by Sahara; and as per the order of Supreme Court, the amount of ₹24,000 crore will eventually come back to Sahara so there is no question of further payment," the group said.

"It is unreasonable to ask Sahara to deposit any money further as this huge amount of ₹24,000 crore is lying unutilised with Sebi for the last nine years which is not only hurting the interest of Sahara as a business organisation but also impeding the economic growth of our country especially in these testing times," it added.

MAJORITY OF INVESTORS ARE ALREADY REPAID

Sahara said it deposited more than ₹24,000 crore, including interest, since 2012 till date in Sahara-Sebi escrow account only to honour the order of the court as the majority of its investors are already repaid. These payments are actually double payment against single liability

Djokovic withdraws from ATP Cup in Australia

Novak Djokovic has withdrawn from the ATP Cup in Australia ahead of the first Grand Slam tournament of the season, organizers said on Wednesday. No reason was given but the top-ranked Serb has declined to comment on his vaccination status in recent months and Australia's strict regulations require all players, officials and fans to be fully vaccinated against Covid-19.

SURFACE TENSION

On a pitch with varied bounce, India need six wickets, SA 211 runs more

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

WEATHER permitting, the Centurion Test is heading for a fitting climax on Day 5. On a pitch that keeps deteriorating with the odd one shooting up from length and keeping low at times whenever the ball hits the cracks, South Africa, chasing 305, are still 211 runs away from a win, while India need six wickets to go 1-0 up in the Freedom Series after 13 wickets fell on Wednesday. While the target is not beyond South Africa's reach, it isn't going to be easy against an Indian attack that is relentlessly asking questions. After the hosts used a heavy-roller before the start of their innings, the pitch appeared to flatten out a bit, with the uneven bounce that Indian batters encountered in the first and second session of Day 4, completely disappearing. Under the circumstances, it was India's discipline and consistent probing with the ball that led to South Africa losing Aiden Markram, Keegan Petersen, Rassie van der Dussen and night-watchman Keshav Maharaj.

Captain Dean Elgar, with an organised defense, was holding with a typically constructed 122-ball 52. On a pitch where unplayable ones keep coming, the opener has been at his grinding best, dead-batting the good ones with the steel that one associates with him. Bumrah's and Siraj's natural line of angling the ball away from the left-hander kept asking him questions, but with some luck — which batters are going to need in abundance on this pitch — he soldiered on, cashing on the loose deliveries.

This is by all means a pitch where one wicket can lead to two or three and one where batters are increasingly finding it hard to get used to the bounce. That Elgar and Van der Dussen stitched a 40-run stand spanning 137 deliveries — the most a pair has faced since KL Rahul and Ajinkya Rahane played 157 balls — in itself seemed like an achievement given the conditions and attack. And it was also a vindication that you can never really feel settled on this pitch as cracks are beginning to do things that make it unpredictable.

South Africa's Dean Elgar deals with a sharp bouncer on Day 4 | AFP

"The wicket is challenging. In the second innings, there was more variable bounce. Considering that, we have done well so far," India's batting coach Vikram Rathour said. "Because of variable bounce, there are few balls that are staying low. The way we bowled today, (Wednesday), if we do that tomorrow (Thursday), will create lots of wicket-taking opportunities. The pitch is getting harder to play on," he added.

Beginning at 16/1, with 146 run-lead, India's intentions were clear. Make quick runs as hanging in and seeing off a period of play was not going to take them anywhere. Compared to the last session, the pitch was a lot more dangerous in the first-half of the day, with South Africa's attack making the most of it by landing it on the right areas and making the Indian batters play. In that sense, if they go on to lose the Test, South Africa will look back at how bad they bowled on Day 1, which allowed India to post a 300-plus total.

With the seam movement making it all the more difficult, India's plan to attack wasn't surprising, particularly after they lost Rahul, Cheteshwar Pujara and Virat Kohli. That Ajinkya Rahane (20 off 23 balls) and Rishabh Pant (34 off 34) were compelled to take attack to the opposition in an attempt to swell the lead past 300 said a thing or two about how hard it was hanging in the middle. In that context, Pant's knock was worth a lot more considering he made 32 off those after Rahane perished as merely hanging in may not have taken India's lead past 300.

The game plan for India on Thursday will be simple as Kohli kept repeating it from the cordon. As long as they hit the cracks and bring the variable bounce into play, their relentless approach will keep testing South Africa batters.

Bio-bubble breached, AIFF in firefighting mode

MARTIN JOSEPH @ Kochi

WHILE most have come to terms with living in the times of a pandemic, it is the uncertainty that comes with it, which can be disruptive. The 2021-22 I-League season had kick-started amidst much promise on Boxing Day, but uncertainty looms large after the bio-bubble was breached with many teams reporting positive cases of Covid.

It is believed that five players and three officials of Real Kashmir and one player each from Mohammedan Sporting, Aizawl FC and Sreenidi tested positive from tests which were conducted on Tuesday. "We hope to play soon because the whole point of being in a bio-bubble and taking all the precautions is to compete. Let's hope the matches resume soon because the players are focused on only that," said Gokulam Kerala FC president VC Praveen.

The I-League Committee held an emergency meeting on Wednesday to take cognizance of the situation and decided to postpone six of the upcoming matches. The situation will be reviewed again on January 4 to decide the future course, according to I-League chairman Subrata Dutta.

Having successfully held the I-League inside a bio-bubble last season, this comes as a logistical nightmare for the organisers and they are taking a safety-first approach to try and contain the situation based on the advice of Dr. Harsh Mahajan, who is part of the AIFF Sports Medical Committee. "The Committee deliberated at length about the current situation wherein positive cases have been detected among participating teams in the ongoing I-League 2021-22, and also took into serious consideration Dr. Mahajan's suggestions to adhere to medical parameters, and move forward together without making any compromise on the health of the players which is of paramount importance. Acting on the advice, the Committee hence, unanimously decided to postpone the I-League 2021-22 matches for the next round which were scheduled on December 30-31, 2021," I-League's statement read.

LONDON: Arsenal manager Mikel Arteta tested positive for the coronavirus again and will be absent for the Premier League encounter against Manchester City on New Year's Day, the club announced on Wednesday.

Former administrator ST Bhoopal dies

Shikhar, Smaran guides Karnataka to victory

BENGALURU: From the opening day, Karnataka have been a dominant unit against Puducherry in the men's U-19 Cooch Behar Trophy. On Day 3, Wednesday, Karnataka came up with another impressive show to defeat their opponents by an innings and 375 runs in the contest. Shikhar Shetty was the star of the day, scalping six wickets. Puducherry, who just managed a paltry 59 runs in the first innings, were all out for 103 runs in the second. Earlier, Karnataka declared for 537/7 as Smaran R remained not out on 201 runs.

Struggling Bengaluru seek Chennaiyin boost

IT has been more than a month since Bengaluru FC's last win in the ongoing ISL. After their victory over NorthEast United on November 20, they have played seven matches without a single win, an unhappy run that has increased pressure on the Blues to deliver when they meet Chennaiyin FC in Vasco on Thursday.

Both the teams have recharged their batteries with the Blues having not played a single game in the last ten days while their opponents' have not featured for eight days. It also means that Bengaluru and Chennaiyin got some solid time to look into their last few games and work on their weaknesses.

"The mood (of the camp) is good. Of course, we had enough time to train. We trained on several things, on tactical options and some other ideas to improve upon the game," said BFC head coach Marco Pezzaiuoli's on Wednesday. "Chennaiyin have also had rest so their speed and sharpness will be back. We need to be focused on ourselves because they have some really good players. They are playing different kinds of systems. They are very good in attacking transitions and we need to keep the ball better, especially in midfield."

In fact, with the season almost halfway, it would take something special from Bengaluru to make it to the top four and qualify for the play-offs. For that to happen, they need to up their game by leaps and bounds in all departments. It is clear that Bengaluru are desperate to get back to winnings so much so that their star player Sunil Chhetri, who has been below par so far, did not start in the last two matches.

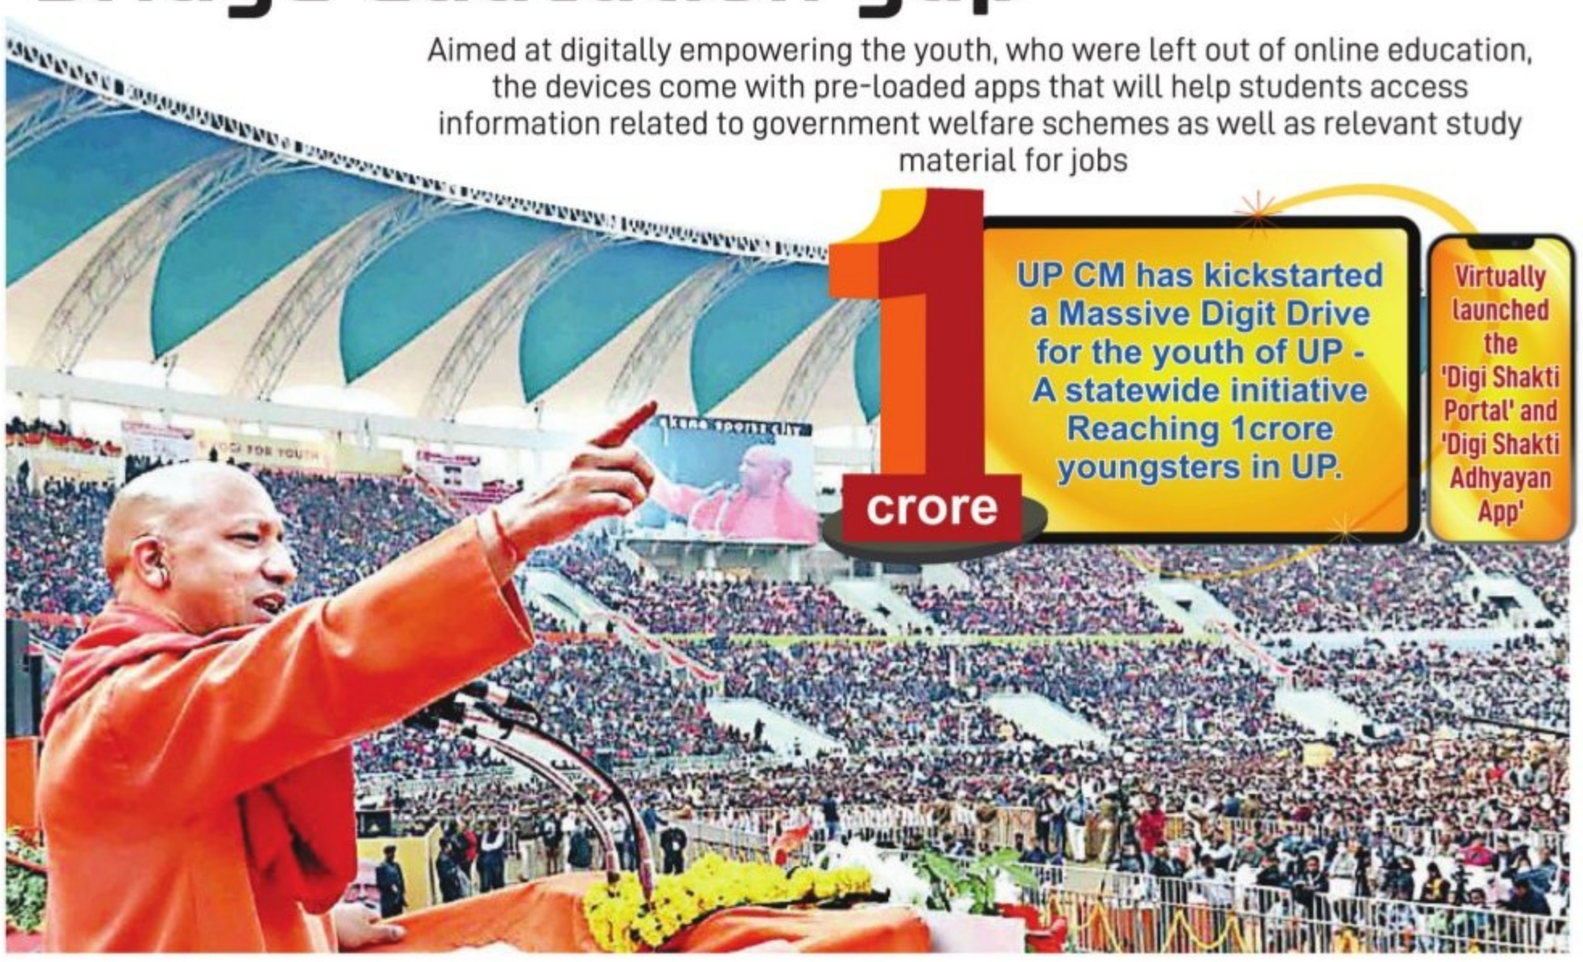
Yogi's free tablets, smartphones bridge education gap

Aimed at digitally empowering the youth, who were left out of online education, the devices come with pre-loaded apps that will help students access information related to government welfare schemes as well as relevant study material for jobs



1 crore
UP CM has kickstarted a Massive Digit Drive for the youth of UP - A statewide initiative Reaching 1crore youngsters in UP.
Virtually launched the 'Digi Shakti Portal' and 'Digi Shakti Adhyayan App'

THE UTTAR Pradesh Government has started fulfilling its promise of giving away free tablets and smartphones to students and empowering them digitally.

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath launched a programme to distribute one crore tablets and smart phones to students on Sushashan Divas, the birth anniversary of late Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee, as he had committed to do so in his last election manifesto. During the launch ceremony held at a stadium in Lucknow, these devices were given away to more than 60,000 undergraduate and post-graduate students. They also included those preparing for competitive examinations and undergoing skill development training. Undoubtedly, it was the "biggest" distribution drive in the country for youth welfare.

The "Digi Shakti Portal" and the "Digi Shakti Adhyayan App" were also launched amid the cheer of thousands of students. The Digi Shakti Adhyayan App is already installed on all the distributed devices and will help students access Information related to government welfare schemes as well as relevant study material.

Launching the distribution programme, Adityanath underlined the importance of devices to overcome the digital divide that became more apparent and wider during the pandemic. Students who did not have the facility of accessing online classes and were thus forced out of the school system made the State Government sit up and take note. It decided to connect one crore youth with technology by providing them tablets and smart phones.

Encouraging the youth further, Union Minister of Education, Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, Dharmendra Pradhan, who was present at the event, said the Centre would ensure internet connectivity in all villages across the country.

Paying a heartfelt tribute to the Bharat Ratna, the late Atal Bihari Vajpayee, the Chief Minister gave a positive message to the youth, saying one had to be big-hearted and inclusive in spirit as narrow-mindedness would not take one anywhere. He also assured the youth of transparency and fairness in recruitment processes and warned those who played foul while staying within the system.

The Chief Minister also mentioned the achievements of youths and girls who had made the State proud in every field, from sports feats to launching start-ups. He even honoured one such achiever, the Olympic 2020 medallist, weight lifter Mirabai Chanu. Giving an example of Lord Krishna, he said that Krishna was young when he liberated the people of Mathura from the tyranny of Kansa. He recalled Lord Buddha and Adi Shankaracharya, who in their youth gave the message of nirvana to the world. Adi Shankaracharya lived only 32 years, he said.

Adityanath then invoked Swami Vivekananda, who represented India on the global stage and lived till 40. Then he invoked young heroes of the independence movement. "Who can forget Guru Gobind Singh, Chhatrapati Shivaji, Maharana Pratap and Maharani Laxmi Bai. During the war of 1857, Rani Laxmibai was only 23 years." He further mentioned Bhagat Singh, Rajguru, Sukhdev, Thakur Roshan Singh, Ashfaqullah Khan, Ramprasad Bismil and Veer Savarkar among others, underlining that all of them did their greatest deeds in their youth.

Expressing a resolve to take the digital revolution to every village in the State, the Chief Minister informed that the distribution process would start at the district level from the next week.

Elaborating on the tablet distribution scheme, a senior Government official asserted that it was a great initiative to technologically upgrade the youth, who could not only access online educational content but also information on employment opportunities. The Digi Shakti Adhyayan App installed on these devices will link the students with the educational material to be provided by the education department and various universities. The logo and the wall paper booted on these devices will keep streaming information on various Government welfare schemes and employment opportunities.

Five students — Akanksha Mishra, a final year student of B. Sc. Nursing; Sagar Upamanyu, a visually-challenged student of MA (Political Science); Mehul Gupta, a B. Tech student; Prabal Awasthi preparing for competitive examinations, and Zeba Kausar, a final year student of BA – were invited on stage where they expressed gratitude to the State Government for providing resources to needy students.

Infosys to provide 3900 free programmes

According to UPDESCO, the nodal agency for implementation of the scheme, the State Government is also in the process of forging an agreement with leading IT company, Infosys, to provide 3,900 free programmes to the youth. This will further enrich the content available for education, preparation of competitive examinations and other employment opportunities to make them self-dependent.

"The UP Government, through the distribution of free smart phones and tablets, will be able to make academic material accessible to students. They can share with others as well. This is Digital India's Digital Uttar Pradesh.

UP aims to be higher education hub

Apart from setting up new institutions and universities, Adityanath has focused on improving the quality of instruction and academic standards

OVER THE past four-and-a-half years, the Uttar Pradesh Government has taken a number of steps to upgrade the higher, technical and medical education facilities in the State. New universities, college and medical colleges have been set up to ensure that the young people do not have to search for education opportunities in other places. Besides setting up new institutions, the State Government has taken steps to elevate standards of teaching and improving the quality of instruction and courses. It has also taken the far-reaching decision of providing free education to girls up to graduation.

Following the decision to establish a university in every division in the State, 77 new government colleges, eight new State universities and 25 model government colleges have been set up. More are in the pipeline. Apart from this, Pandit Deendayal Upadhyay Research Chairs have been established in 15 State universities. The Guru Shree Gorakhnath Research Chair at Pt Deendayal Upadhyay Gorakhpur University will be a boon for research students.

Technical education

Chief Minister Adityanath has prioritised technical education to develop the competitive edge and skill sets of students from the State. The Centre for Advanced Studies, Lucknow, and Noida Design Institute have been established under the Dr APJ Abdul Kalam Technical University (AKTU). Important labs like the Google Code Lab, Artificial Intelligence Lab, Smart City Simulation Lab, 3D-Printing and Nanotechnology lab and so on have been set up at the Centre for Advanced Studies at a cost of Rs 1 crore.

In order to improve the level of education, the Government has approved 51 newly-constructed Government polytechnics that will be operated on the PPP mode. At present, teaching and training are being imparted at 147 State and 19 State-aided institutions.

Medical education

Before 2017, Uttar Pradesh had a poor medical education set-up as compared to other States. Only one full-fledged PGI and few medical colleges were functional. The Adityanath Government decided to change the situation. So now at least one medical college is functional in 59 districts. Also, the process of setting up medical colleges on the PPP model is under way in 16 districts. With the opening of AIIMS in Gorakhpur and Rae Bareli, the MBBS seats have increased by 938. Apart from this, another medical university (Atal Bihari Vajpayee Medical University) is under construction in Lucknow and an AYUSH University in Gorakhpur.

Five district hospitals (Ayodhya, Bahraich, Basti, Firozabad and Shahjahanpur) have been upgraded into medical colleges. Treatment has started in OPDs of 14 new medical colleges. The MBBS course has been started at RML Institute of Medical Sciences, Lucknow. Apart from this, the State's first maternal ICU has also been established. Super specialty blocks have been set up at Government Medical Colleges in Jhansi, Gorakhpur, Meerut, Prayagraj, Kanpur and Agra.

One District, One Medical College

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath has launched a campaign to open a medical college in every district to provide better treatment facilities to people. History was created when Prime Minister Narendra Modi simultaneously inaugurated nine medical colleges in the state.

Atal Bihari Vajpayee Medical University

Before 2017, the medical colleges in Uttar Pradesh were affiliated to different universities. Because of this, there was no uniformity of curriculum and sessions. In 2019, the Adityanath Government started the construction of the State's second medical university. By deciding to grant affiliation to all medical colleges, the Government has brought about uniformity in academic and research standards. About 60 government and private medical colleges and dental colleges will be affiliated to this medical university.

Mahayogi Guru Gorakhnath Ayush University

In order to encourage the education and popularity of "AYUSH" methods, the first AYUSH University of Uttar Pradesh is being established in Gorakhpur district. All Ayush medical institutes of the State will be affiliated to this university. A research institute will also be established here to establish the credibility and acceptability of traditional and ancient medical systems in line with international standards and the utility of yoga in public health. This will help bring in Ayurveda and Unani, Homeopathy and Naturopathy institutions under one roof.

Yogi govt revamps education system

Through 'Operation Kayakalp', basic facilities were provided in nearly 1.35 lakh schools of the state. Children were given free books, school bags, two pairs of uniforms, sweaters and shoes-stockings. separate toilets have been constructed for boys and girls

THE UP Government, led by Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, has worked consistently for 57 months to revive and consolidate the primary education system that had been woefully neglected by past governments.

When Adityanath took over the reins of the State, the number of basic schools in rural as well as urban areas were insufficient while school buildings and related infrastructure were dilapidated and unsafe. Even the number of teachers in the system was grossly inadequate. Some schools just existed on paper – there were no buildings or teachers. Mending the education system by setting up proper schools and teachers as well as bringing in children for studies was a big challenge. However, the State Government took care of these essential aspects and launched 'Operation Kayakalp' to improve the conditions on ground. Under this, 1.38 lakh government basic schools were refurbished and around 1.5 lakh basic teachers were appointed.

The State Government launched a campaign, "School Chalo Abhiyan", to enroll children and brought more than 4.80 crore students back to where they should have been in the first place. Enrollment of dropouts was also made possible through the 'Har Din School Aayen' programme.

Apart from this, 771 Kasturba Gandhi Balika Vidyalayas were started in the state. Libraries were established in these schools to inculcate a reading habit among children.

The State Government also gave away free shoes, stockings, sweaters, text books and bags to school children between classes I and VIII.

Secondary education

The efforts to systematise education were not limited to the primary school system. The Adityanath Government has also revamped secondary education by setting up as many as 250 new inter colleges. It further filled up 5,987 posts of teachers. It established Atal Residential Schools in all 18 divisions of the State for free education of the children of labourers. In view of the difficulties in the education of girls, the Government has started construction of girls' hostels in 107 development blocks.

Vocational education

In order to connect education with employment, the Government has also strengthened the vocational education infrastructure. Thirty-five new government ITIs were established. At present, 305 government ITIs and 26 polytechnics are operating in the State. New disciplines have been introduced in all Government training institutes. Candidates belonging to the Scheduled Castes/Scheduled Tribes are given free training at all Government institutions.

Also, in order to promote self-employment and establishment of new ventures by aspirants in the service sector, the State Government has made a provision of loans up to Rs 25 lakh and Rs 10 lakh respectively.

The year 2021 has been a year full of new learnings and reflections for me. While we continue to navigate the new normal, two of the biggest takeaways were - whatever be the challenges, always be honest and transparent with people you work with. In fact, an entrepreneur is successful only if his customers bestow that trust on him. I also believe that the joy of giving is unmatched and cannot be replaced by anything else. The more you give the more you reap the benefits of it in life.

KUBBRA SAIT, actor

Finding gratitude and joy in the little things of life have been the takeaways of this year. There have been moments when I've taken life and myself way too seriously. In the new year, I'll be more aware of those and I'll live a little more in the moment.

IF THERE'S ONE THING THAT BENGALUREANS HAVE LEARNT IN A YEAR FULL OF UPS AND DOWNS, IT'S ABOUT GOING WITH THE FLOW. CITY CELEBS SHARE THEIR TAKEAWAYS FROM THE YEAR 2021

LESSONS FOR LIFE

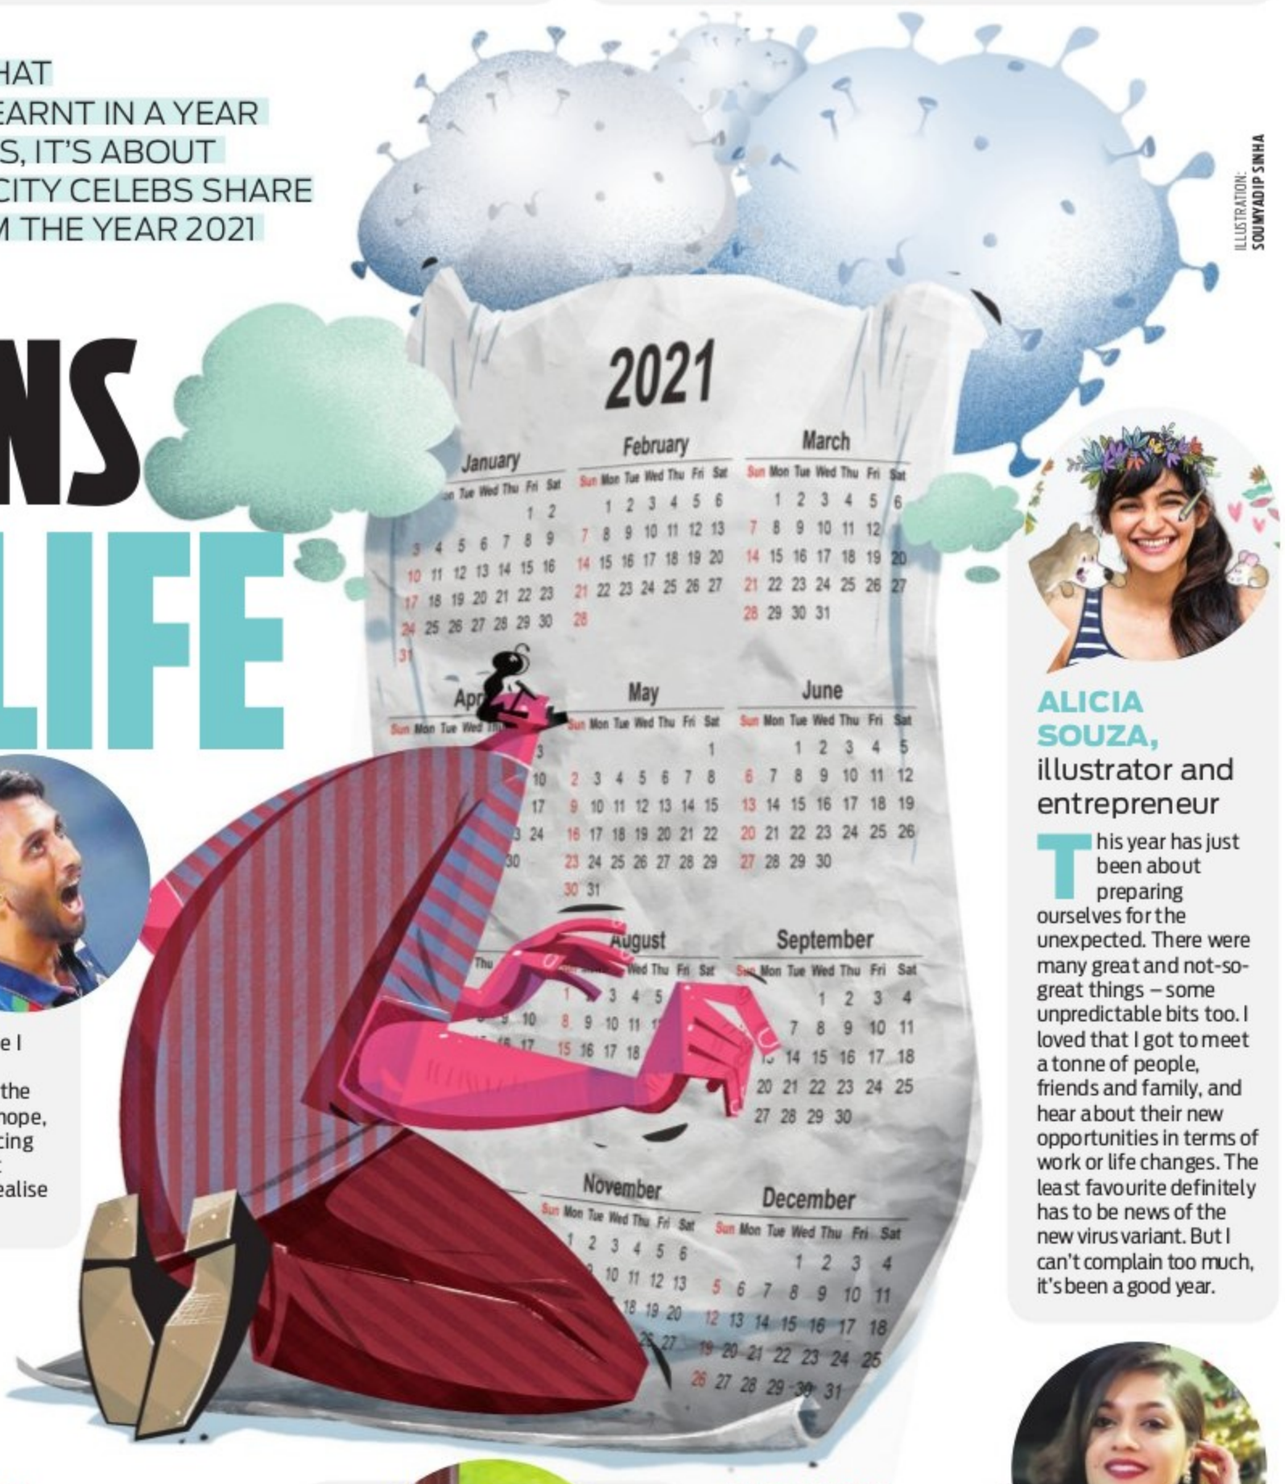

ILLUSTRATION: SOUMYADIP SINHA

PRASIDH KRISHNA, cricketer

This year is definitely special as I made my international debut in March. However, it was yet another year ridden with the pandemic and everybody went through a bad patch. Personally, I made sure I was disciplined, had resilience and kept at practising cricket. Despite the various odds the pandemic put up, I learnt that there is still hope, with many businesses doing well and bouncing back. My addition to the Test squad against England after the second wave, made me realise there is light at the end of the tunnel.

ALICIA SOUZA, illustrator and entrepreneur

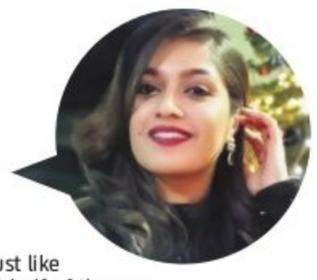
This year has just been about preparing ourselves for the unexpected. There were many great and not-so-great things – some unpredictable bits too. I loved that I got to meet a tonne of people, friends and family, and hear about their new opportunities in terms of work or life changes. The least favourite definitely has to be news of the new virus variant. But I can't complain too much, it's been a good year.

MANU CHANDRA, chef

This year, I realised that freedom tastes better once it is actually tasted. It's been a stressful year but also liberating at the same time. Making time for myself was the most important lesson for me.

MANASI PRASAD, director, Indian Music Experience Museum

The year taught me to appreciate the small joys of life so that we can end it with a sense of gratitude. While 2020 was a year of confusion, 2021 turned out to be a year of reflection. It taught us to prioritise what's important, not resist change, and accept things the way they are.



MEGHANA RAJ, actor

The year 2021 has taught me a lot, just like 2020 did. The first half of the year was quite difficult for me and my family. The year has taught me to live in the moment. The future can be very fragile. I have also learnt to honour the past. The past is our teacher and it mentors how we look at the future. 2020 had changed me as a person but 2021 helped me make peace with myself.

MADHU CHANDAN, founder, Organic Mandya

2021 gave me more time to spend on farming. I got a first-hand idea of the struggles that farmers, cab drivers, migrants went through with the second wave of the pandemic, as I work with them closely. But I saw them bouncing back and the hope that has given me, is my biggest takeaway of 2021.

SAMYUKTA HORNAD, actor

What I learnt this year is that you can't control everything. You have to wake up, try to be in a good mood and not let your anxiety get the better of you.

Illustrator Shriya Murthy's calendar for 2022 is filled with familiar landmarks of the city

MONIKA MONALISA

A desk calendar brings with it the charm of its own in this digital age. In city-based illustrator Shriya Murthy's calendar, she brings alive landmarks and events intrinsic to Bengaluru. Whether it's Plaza Theatre or the Kadlekai Parishe, there'sa whiff of nostalgia that the calendar brings with it.

For each month, Murthy has picked an iconic space. For example, she recreated the scene of a traffic jam near the KR Puram Bridge, where a person on a bus is speaking on the phone, telling the other person that he is "reaching in 5 minutes". "It's a common line in Bengaluru even though that five minutes is actually never five," says Murthy, adding, "The city is known for the Kadlekai Parishe which is intrinsic to the city."

Murthy, an IT analyst by day and doodler by night, started doing it professionally in 2019. There is also a story behind why she picked the theme, 'Bangalore Nostalgia', for 2022. "My uncle told me about how his friends and he used to bunk classes to watch movies at Plaza on

Pages from the calender

MG Road," says Murthy, adding that the scene around the theatre is also featured in the calendar. But if she has to pick her favourite, it has to be her take of the Varier bakery. "It's for the month of January and I thought it's a sweet way to start the year," she says with a laugh.

Although most people are dependent on gadgets these days, Murthy believes it's still fun to collect printed calendars at the beginning of the year. "I decided to make calendars in 2019 just as a hobby, but soon realised that there's a huge demand for this. It's the same case this year, I am going to be printing my third batch," says the 28-year-old.

Her calendar, which is priced at ₹ 500, is more of a sentiment since it's everything about Bengaluru. "My illustrations include Kannada and English which every Bengalurean can relate to," she says.

PARIVRTTA AGNISTAMBHASANA

(REVOLVED FIRE LOG POSE)

It is an intense hip-opener that instills a sense of confidence and prowess. This energising posture reduces stress levels by calming the mind. Traditionally, it opens the Muladhara (root) chakra. Opening this chakra provides mental and emotional grounding, thus increasing the individual's sense of security and peace. Additional benefits are reduction in tension and anxiety, stimulation of the abdominal organs, opening of the hips and groin muscles and strengthening of the legs and calves.

STEPS

- Begin in Dandasana (Staff pose), with both legs extended straight out in front of you. Slowly, lift your shoulders and roll your upper arm back. Now, press the bottom tips of shoulder blades backward.
- Put your left foot under your right leg to the outside of your hip; keep your outer leg on the floor. Stack your right leg on your left leg. Make sure that your right ankle is outside the left ankle.
- If your hips are more flexible, you can slide your left shin forward under the right. Keep your left heel beside your right hip. (If you feel uncomfortable then sit in Sukhasana).
- Press your heels and expand your toes. Keep your trunk long, breathe out and fold forward from your groin, not from your gut (belly).
- Keep some space between your navel and pubis. Keep your forearms on the floor.
- While breathing, note how your trunk or torso lifts up slightly; when it does, try to lengthen from your pubis to your sternum; after that on next exhale, fold it deeper.
- You can remain in this pose for 1 or 3 minutes. Breathe in and release the pose, sit comfortably in Sukhasana.
- Repeat the process with the left leg on top.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the hips, thighs, knees, ankles, spine, abdominal muscles and the groin area.
- Generates internal heat which is highly detoxifying.

Do New Year diets really work?

DR ADITYA S CHOWTI

WE'VE all heard the expression, 'New year, New Me' with many people intending to exercise and eat healthier in January. However, what are the chances of succeeding on a New Year's diet? Is it possible to keep it up while improving general health in the long run?

The holiday season is meant for rest and leisure with friends and family while indulging in good food, often making people feel bad about themselves for 'overindulging' and gaining weight. As a result, New Year leads to searching for quick, dramatic results to shed the pounds with 'quick-fix' diets.

January often sees people starting unhealthy and unsustainable 'crash diets', a weight-loss plan followed for a short period with a sense of urgency to get quick results and fitness-related resolutions as the New Year is seen as a 'moment of transformation.' While calorie restriction can produce short-term weight loss, there are numerous health risks associated with this weight loss method. Diets for the New Year could include atkins, keto, low-carb, low-fat, and intermittent fasting.

Drawbacks

1. Induces hunger: Abrupt reduction of calorie intake to a level that one's body is not accustomed to increases hunger, resulting in binge eating episodes and junk cravings.
2. Harmful to the heart: Crash dieting, especially for cardiac patients, can lead to heart complications, deteriorating the heart's ability to pump blood.
3. Slows metabolism: A rapid metabolism permits the body to burn calories even when resting. However, calorie restriction might slow this down as the body attempts to conserve energy.
4. Promotes toxic food attitudes: Crash diets are harmful and can lead to eating disorders. Starvation as a form of punishment can change food perspectives, ultimately distorting the sense of self-worth based on what one eats while also fostering food obsessions.
5. Depletes energy: Dieting could make one feel dizzy, weary, and weak, especially with limited carb consumption, which is the brain's primary energy source.
6. Affects mood: Unhappiness harbours when most of the items one avoids while crash dieting are likely foods they relish. Calorie restriction might make one irritable and moody and reduce focus and interest in ordinary duties.
7. Induces hair loss: Diet directly impacts hair health. As a result, starving the body of protein, healthy fats, Vitamin C and E, and zinc can result in hair loss and damage.
8. Constant dieting might disrupt the menstrual cycle or even cause periods to stop entirely over time and impact fertility.

By replacing the word 'diet' with what we consume as nourishment and fuel for our bodies, the outcomes will be more successful and healthier, and more sustainable in the long run if one learns to embark on a nutritious meal plan alongside workouts.

Rapid antigen tests have reduced sensitivity against Omicron

Although rapid antigen tests can detect the Omicron variant it may be less sensitive, according to the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA). The findings are based on a study conducted by the FDA in collaboration with the US National Institutes of Health (NIH). The preliminary studies evaluated the performance of some antigen tests using patient samples' containing live virus, which represents the best way to evaluate true test performance in the short-term. —IANS

Covid severely increases levels of oxidative stress

US researchers have found that people hospitalised with Covid-19 infection have significantly raised levels of oxidative stress, oxidant damage and markedly reduced levels of glutathione. "Increased oxidative stress and reduced glutathione levels are associated with a number of conditions including ageing, diabetes, HIV infection, neurodegenerative disorders, cardiovascular disorders and others," said corresponding author Dr Rajagopal Sekhar, associate professor of medicine. —IANS

Omicron may do good by replacing Delta

The Omicron variant of Covid, which has so far been detected in more than 100 countries, may help the world get rid of the Delta strain that claimed so many lives across the globe, said health experts. Omicron, first detected from southern Africa in late November, has become dominant in several countries including, the US and the UK. "Omicron is a milder wave and will replace Delta, and may be good for the world," Dr Vasant Nagvekar, Covid task force member of Maharashtra government, said. —IANS

Don't let stress get the better of you in 2022

DR RAJESH T R

WE are in the midst of the pandemic. But how many of you are aware that we were already in an ongoing heart disease epidemic? Yes, heart disease has reached epidemic proportions in our country. Here are a few steps which can start you off on your lifelong journey to take care of your heart.

1 Know about heart diseases: In the most common type of heart disease, fat deposits within the walls of arteries, causing obstruction and reduced blood supply to the heart muscle. It causes pain and breathlessness on physical exertion. Sometimes, if the problem is severe, it causes a heart attack, where a portion of the heart muscle is permanently damaged. Sometimes heart attacks can go unnoticed and lead to heart failure.

Do you know that just being an Indian, places you at higher risk for heart disease? In addition to a strong genetic predisposition, a poor lifestyle that has evolved over the last few decades, is responsible for this. High cholesterol levels, obesity, diabetes, hypertension, smoking, stress etc. are important modifiable risk factors that have contributed to this scenario.

The treatment for this disease is based on lifestyle modifications to control the modifiable risk factors and drugs to control the blocks.When the blocks are severe, procedures can be done to restore the blood supply. These include angioplasty and stenting, and a surgical procedure called bypass operation.

2 Lead a healthy lifestyle: A healthy lifestyle reduces the risk of heart disease. One has to eat a balanced diet with lots of fruits and vegetables. Limit the amount of salt and sugar. Switch to whole grains and low fat or non-fat products. Avoid junk and high-calorie foods. Lead an active life. Exercise at least 30 minutes a day. It can be as simple as brisk walking. You can continue playing your favourite sports. Try to increase physical activity in your daily routine, like taking the stairs or cycling to work. There are innumerable benefits of leading an active life beyond maintaining a healthy heart, like improving your mental well-being! Keep a watch on you weight. Obesity is a major risk factor for not only heart diseases but many other ailments as well.

3 Get yourself regularly checked: Undergoing a preventive health check up on a regular basis is a good practice. The earlier one starts the better. Echocardiogram (ECG) and Treadmill Test (TMT) are simple tests that can be done to confirm heart health. Heart disease is surely a leading cause of death, but it need not be inevitable. Following a heart-healthy lifestyle doesn't have to be complicated, and it doesn't mean you need to live a life of self-deprivation. Instead, find ways to incorporate heart-healthy habits into your lifestyle and you may well enjoy a healthier life for years to come.

Practising gratitude, maintaining a work-life balance, setting realistic goals... try these techniques to keep your emotional well-being in check

Small changes, big impact

DR NITI RAIZADA

MENTAL health includes our emotional, psychological, and social well-being. It affects how we think, feel, and act. It also helps determine how we handle stress, how we relate to others, and make choices. This is important in all stages of life — from childhood to adolescence, adulthood or in the geriatric age group.

Mental health talks about our intelligence quotient along with the emotional quotient. We talk more often about mindfulness and relaxation techniques which should be a part of our daily living. Some of the red flag signs of mental issues include:

- Long-lasting sadness or irritability
- Excessive paranoia, worry, or anxiety
- Extreme changes in moods
- Dramatic changes in eating or sleeping pattern
- Social withdrawal

Ways of maintaining emotional well-being:

- Spend time with friends, family and loved ones
- Let go of toxic people and love yourself
- Express your feelings regularly
- Reduce alcohol consumption
- Avoid illicit drug use
- Keep active and eat well. Include fruits and vegetables in your diet
- Develop new skills and refine old ones
- Relax and enjoy your hobbies
- Set realistic goals
- Practice gratitude
- Try music and breathing techniques
- Accept and forgive. Be your own friend

What we definitely know about mental health is that it is challenging, keeps you in a state of flux, is complex and real. Early intervention works best. Accepting that you may have a mental health issue is not a sign of weakness. What is required is time and patience. In-person therapy and group therapy play an important role. Setting boundaries and self-care is pivotal.

Observing without the 'ME'

SOULFUL

I DON'T know how you feel about what is happening in the world, in our environment, to our culture and society. It seems to me there is so much chaos, so much contradiction and so much strife and war, hatred and sorrow. And various leaders, both political and religious, try to find an answer either in some ideology, or in some belief, or in a cultivated faith. And none of these things seems to answer the problems. Our problems go on endlessly. And if we could in these four talks in this tent and the two discussions that are to take place, if we could be serious enough to go into this question of how to bring about, not only in ourselves but in society, a revolution, not physical revolution because that only leads to tyranny and the heightened control of bureaucracy; if we could very deeply find out for ourselves what to do, not depending on any authority, including that of the speaker, or on a book, on a philosophy, on any structural behavioural pattern, but actually find out irrevocably, if one can, what to do about all this confusion, this strife, this extraordinary, contradictory, hypocritical life on leads.

To me it seems to be fairly clear that to observe there must be freedom, not only the outward phenomenon, but also to observe what is going on within ourselves, to observe without any prejudice, without taking any side, but to examine very closely, freely the whole process of our thinking and our activity, our pleasures, fears, and all the things that we have built around ourselves, not only outwardly but in ourselves as a form of resistance, compulsive demands, escapes, and so on. If we could do that consistently, with full intention, to discover for ourselves a way of living that is not contradictory, then perhaps these talks will be worthwhile; otherwise it will be another lecture, another entertainment, pleasurable or rather absurd, logical or illogical and so on. So if we could completely give ourselves to the examination, to observe intimately what is going on, both outwardly and inwardly.

Now the difficulty in this lies, it seems to me, in the capacity to observe, to see things as they are, not as we would like them to be, or what they should be, but actually what is going on. To so observe has its own discipline, not the discipline of imitation, or compulsion, or conformity but that very observation brings its own discipline, not imposed, not conforming to any particular pattern, which implies suppression, but to observe. After all when you do observe something very closely, or listen to somebody very fully, that very listening and seeing, in that is implied attention. And where there is attention there is discipline, without being disciplined.

If that is clear, the next point is, in observing there is always the observer. The observer who, with his prejudices, with his conditioning, with his fears and guilt and all the rest of it, he is the observer, the censor, and through his eyes he looks, and therefore he is really not looking at all, he is merely coming to conclusions based upon his past experiences and knowledge. The past experiences, conclusions and knowledge prevent actually seeing. And when there is such an observer, what he observers is something different, or something which he has to conquer, or change and so on; whereas if the observer is the observed - I think this is really a radical thing to understand, really the most important thing to understand if we are going to discuss anything seriously: that in us there is this division, this contradiction, the observer and the many fragments which he observes. The many fragments make up the 'me', the ego, the personality, whatever you like to call it, the many fragments. And one of the fragments becomes the observer or the censor, and that fragment looks over the various other fragments. Please do this as we are talking, not agreeing or disagreeing but observe this fact that is going on within oneself; it becomes terribly interesting and rather fun if you go at it very, very seriously.

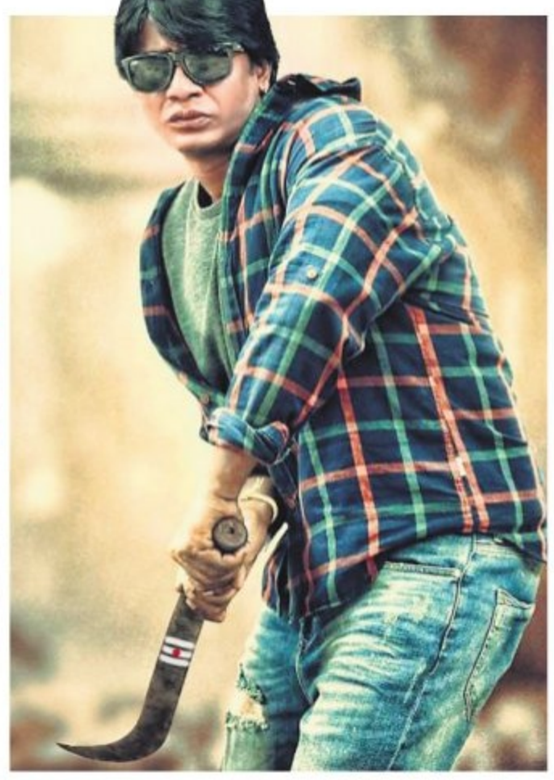
The deaths of Power Star Puneeth Rajkumar, Sanchari Vijay among many others shook the Kannada industry this year. Despite these setbacks, Sandalwood did manage to bring out a handful of big-ticket films to the theatres, which received quite the response

SCREEN SAGA



A SHARADHAA

2021 was a year of stupendous highs and devastating lows for Sandalwood. Even as the industry was navigating around the pandemic, Kannada cinema had to face the shocking deaths of some of its most illustrious names.

The deaths of Power Star Puneeth Rajkumar, Sanchari Vijay among many others shook Kannada cinema among others passing away this year. Despite these setbacks, the Kannada Film industry did manage to bring out a handful of big-ticket films to the theatres, which received quite the response. Sandalwood also had its share of critically acclaimed films that kept the flag flying high. As the curtain falls on 2021, we look back at how Sandalwood fared in a year that not only gave a lot but took a fair share.

Kannada industry opened up with Prajwal Devaraj's Inspector Vikram, and 100-plus films made their way to the theatres this year, while a handful opted for a digital release. Dhruva Sarja's Pogaru, Darshan-starrer Roberrt created a lot of buzz during its release, and the latter, backed by Umapathy Films, turned out to be the highest-grossing film of 2021. However, the film could not complete a 100 day-run in theatres owing to the second wave lockdown, which was implemented in the state in April.

Puneeth Rajkumar's Yuvarathnaa created a lot of buzz before the release, and made all the right kinds of noises. However, the theatrical run of this Hombale Films production that began on April 1 was cut unjustifiably short due to the lockdown and found its way to an OTT release on April 9.

Sandalwood returned after a break with Sudeep's Kotigobba 3, which did run into a few controversies. However, the Shiva Karthik directorial managed to fare well at the box office and was more of a treat to all Sudeep fans. Duniya Vijay, known for his acting ability, proved his mettle as a director with Salaga. The film, backed by Srikanth, highlighted the battle between the police system and rowdyism, and received a good reception at the box office. Another film whose run was unceremoniously cut short was Shivarajkumar's Bhajarangi 2, which was released in theatres on October 29. The makers had to cancel shows owing to Puneeth Rajkumar's death. The film, which was re-released a few days later, had a good response coming from the audience and is still running in theatres.

Coming to critically acclaimed movies, Aravind Kuplikar's directorial debut Puksatte Lifeu, starring Sanchari Vijay was appreciated for its content-driven subject. Raj B Shetty's Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana became the talk of the town and received an overwhelming reception from every nook and cranny of Karnataka, and had filmmakers from across India raving about its making, and became one of the most-watched films of the year.

Dhananjay's Badava Rascal opened to a good response. Srimurali's Madhagaja, directed by Mahesh Kumar, Nikhil Kumar's Rider by Vijay Kumar Konda, Suni-Ganesh combination, Sakkath, Ramesh Aravind's directorial, 100, Suraj Gowda's Ninna Sanihake, Rishab Shetty's Hero, Prem's 25th film, Premam Poojyam, Ravichandran-starrer Drishya 2, Yogi's Lanke, Manuranjan's Mugilpete, Aditi Prabhudeva's Aana were other films that filled up the calendar year. The year ends with three films — Arjun Gowda, Love You Rachchu, and Huttu Habbada Subhashayagalu — releasing on December 31. Ikkat, Ratnan Prapancha, and Kannadiga were among the Kannada films that did well on the streaming platforms. With the year coming to a close, let us take time to remember the people whose deaths left an indelible vacuum in our lives. The Kannada industry is still mourning the sudden death of actor, producer, singer, Puneeth Rajkumar. Popularly known as Appu, Puneeth died of cardiac arrest on October 29. The actor, who has been an inspiration to millions of people, continued to be so even after his demise as his action of donating his eyes became something his fans emulated. Sanchari Vijay's death in a bike accident too took Sandalwood by surprise. Producer Ramu, veteran actors Shivaram, Jayanthi, B Jaya, Sathyajit, and KV Raju were among the illustrious names that left us in the year that was.

Prajwal Devaraj: Ramu sir wanted Arjun Gowda to be like Lockup Death

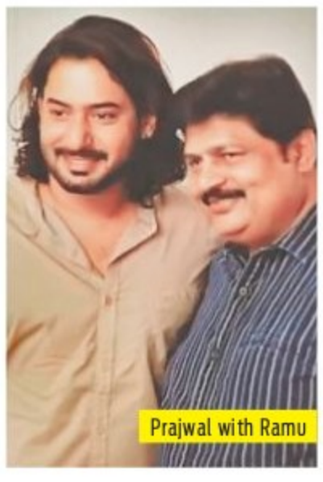
Prajwal Devaraj talks about his upcoming action entertainer, his longtime association with the Ramu Films banner, and more in this interview with CE

CE FEATURES

PRAJWAL Devaraj began 2021 with Inspector Vikram and he will end the year with Arjun Gowda. The actor has earlier collaborated with Ramu production for two films — Ghulama (2009) and Sagar (2011). Now, he is teaming up with the production house for the third time for Arjun Gowda. For Prajwal, producer Ramu is more of a family. He says, "Of all the 39 films produced by Ramu, my father (Devaraj) has acted in the maximum number of films. After school hours, I would often visit the sets of his films to watch the action sequences. I would sit on Ramu sir's lap and see the monitor. A man of few words, he would respect every actor. He often went with his gut instincts, and it often worked well at the box office," shares Prajwal.

Prajwal says that Ramu was involved in the making of Arjun Gowda. "He wanted this film to become another hit like Lockup Death, and I am extremely confident it would do so," he says. Arjun Gowda is a content-driven commercial entertainer that highlights the issues of media trials.



Prajwal with Ramu

Arjun also revealed that Lucky Shankar is based on many shootout incidents. "The director, who is haunted by the Gauri Lankesh shootout episode, has made references to the incident. The film is also inspired by the assassinations of Gandhiji and Indira Gandhi."

When asked how such a sensitive subject is dealt with in a commercial entertainer, the actor says, "My character, Arjun Gowda, likes to see things in black and white. He doesn't operate in the grey area. He is a media baron's son, and so, he believes more in action. The questions people have about media like the ones about the risks, trials, and sting operations, are answered in Arjun Gowda."

Devaraj

"My previous two films made under this banner were big hits, and this time around the production house has set up a bigger canvas for me. I was equally passionate about choosing the right kind of subject. When Shankar approached me with this subject, he explained how the film will not end up looking like it is about a specific person or incident. The film is just an inspiration of true based incidents, and Shankar has neatly woven a narrative around it," says Prajwal Devaraj.

Prajwal says that Malashree, who has now taken over the production responsibilities, is confident about the film. "The director and I are constantly in touch with her. We are doing our best to reach this film to the mass audiences," he says.

Arjun Gowda, also starring Priyanka Thimmesh in the female lead, has music by Dharma Vish and camera work by Jai Anand. The film will be released on December 31.
